'HENS,' SAYS EDUCATOR OF MOTHERS

Go Clucking Around Schools Making Lot of Noise, But Achieving Little, Declares Orator at Teachers' Meet

They Want to Do Something, But They Don't Know How, Southern Woman Says; High Staffs Scored

Likened to "clucking hens," mothers of present-day school children came in for a severe arraignment today on the part of educators assembled in Berkeley for the annual meeting of the California High School Teachers' Association.

Parents and parent-teacher associations were scored as being different to the welfare of the child by Mrs. Regina M. Westcott, dean of the teachers' college at Santa Barbara, and Mrs. Maud Dale, dean of girls at Sacramento High school. It was Mrs. Westcott who likened present-day mothers, affiliated with parent-teacher associations, to clucking hens, at a session of deans of girls and vice-principals of state high schools in Hilgard hall.

"PARENT-TEACHERS HAVE NO REAL OBJECTIVE."

"The parent-teacher association at the present time has no real objective," declared Mrs. Westcott. "Its members go clucking around the school, making much noise, but accomplishing little. True, the mothers raise money for school photographs, prepare refreshments for school entertainments and sew costumes for plays, as well as furnishing things the board of education is unable to give, but the modern parent-teacher association is not well organized. It has no objective. I say this because I feel certain that the members do not wish to go about just 'clucking.' They really want to do something, but as yet they don't know how."

SCHOOL AND HOME EACH BLAME OTHER.

The modern parent, said Mrs. Westcott, is content to sit in the home and let the school teacher raise her child. "The home has come the attitude of self-complacency," she criticized. "It is so easy to let the teacher act as nursemaid when you want to go out for the day. It is so easy, also, to let the teacher keep up on matters of education and then forget all about the subject yourself. There is one common ground between the school and the home, and that is about all. The school and the home have each other as a convenient place to shift the blame for the things that go wrong in a child's life."

Mrs. Westcott advocates placing more mothers as teachers in classrooms as a means of bringing the school and the home into closer contact. Mothers, she said, could be employed as teachers on a part-time basis and still be given an opportunity to raise families.

Courses which would prepare high school boys and girls toward taking their places later in life as heads of families were also urged by Mrs. Westcott.

"WE'RE GIVING GIRLS A MAN'S EDUCATION."

"We teach citizenship, it is true; but we are so tired at the end of the day that we could almost burst whenever it is mentioned," she declared. "Just what are we doing on the other hand to give concrete and definite help to our boy and girl in meeting problems of his later life? Although the girl looks forward to the home as her particular place in society later on, the only things she is taught toward taking that place are a few sewing and cooking tricks. They certainly cannot be called cooking courses, for they are not practical in any way. The schools are not teaching the things that are nearest and dearest to the hearts of girls. Girls want the things that affect the home, but we are covering those things up and giving them a man's education instead."

TEACHERS ALSO COME IN FOR CRITICISM.

Teachers are divided into four groups by Mrs. Westcott in criticizing educators also for their lack of interest in the best welfare of the child. Here is her classification:

Jingits:—The people who say the young people of the present day have gone to the dogs and who think everything is dead wrong.

Sensation scavengers—People who like to read and want to read sensational stories on their way with flying colors. They are the pound-of-flesh people when it comes to meeting out justice.

Peace-at-all-costs crowd—The people who want to smooth things over and who don't want to recognize facts. They are the ones who say: "It's strange we never had these problems when I went to school," and then proceed to ignore them.

The Pharisees—They're the ones who say: "Well, I'm glad

Pocketbooks This Year Are Lighter By $5 Than Last

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Everybody's pocketbook was lightened by nearly $5 during the past fiscal year, according to the statement of money in circulation on July 1, issued today by the treasury. For capita circulation of money on July 1 was $39.87, as compared with $44.78 on July 1, 1921. The treasury's per capita figures were based on total circulation of $4,375,555,653 on July 1, and a total population of 109,743,000 persons as compared with a total circulation of $4,839,611,880 on July 1, 1921, and a total population of 108,087,000. The figures excluded from money in circulation all forms of money held by the federal reserve banks and federal reserve agents whether as a reserve against federal reserve notes or otherwise.

ALAN RYAN FAILS FOR $2 MILLION

Failure of Broker Who Attempted Stutz Motor Corner Causes Sensation.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Alan A. Ryan of Alan A. Ryan & Company, brokers, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the Federal District Court this afternoon. Liabilities were placed at $2,435,473 and assets at $463,523. It was one of the most stupendous brokerage failures ever occurring in this city.

Of the liabilities, $2,786,984 are secured claims. Ryan came into prominence several years ago in his famous corner of Stutz Motors, when he forced the price of that stock to more than $700 a share. For this, Ryan was brought before the stock exchange authorities and subsequently sold his seat on the exchange.

Among the secured creditors are listed the following:

Chase National Bank, $3,456,450; Mechanics' Metals Bank, $3,402,963; Empire Trust Company, $166,704; Guaranty Trust Company, on loan No. 1, $3,854,298; on loans Nos. 2 and 3, $4,859,392; Alan A. Ryan & Company, $13,543,698, which is pledged to Alan A. Ryan and re-pledged to the Guaranty Trust Company.

Charles M. Hawab and Coleman duPont are among the unsecured creditors, the former with a claim of $309,555, and the latter with $66,000. The Federal Motor Works of Indianapolis is another unsecured creditor and has a claim of $100,000.

Alan Ryan is the son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, famous multi-millionaire and former head of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, of which he purchased the controlling interest in 1905.

Alan Ryan has been a "spectacular figure" since the late teens. He is known as a daring speculator and pool organizer. He moves in fashionable society and is interested in smart sports. The failure was announced just a few minutes before the Stock Exchange closed for the day, but the announcement had no influence on the market situation. It was said in Wall street that Ryan had been forced out of the market nearly five months ago.

Avalanche Hits Yosemite Trail

Woman Seriously Injured; Excited Thousands See Disaster.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, July 21 (By International News Service).—An avalanche on the famous Ledge trail from Yosemite Valley to Glacier Park today threw thousands of vacation visitors into wild excitement. One woman, Mrs. Killam, of Merced, was seriously injured and ten received minor hurts from flying pieces of rock. Probably sixty persons were on the trail when the slide occurred.

Ledge trail is the steepest of all Yosemite's trails and climbs more than 3200 feet in the distance of a mile and a quarter. The other trails consist of a series of switchbacks, but the "stunt" of climbing Ledge trail appeals to the venturesome.

The avalanche was seen by hundreds in Yosemite Valley, and it was feared that many had been killed and injured as the huge pieces of rock thundered down the steep cliffs. Chief Ranger Townsley quickly mobilized the entire ranger force of the park, and with Dr. Frederick Stein, park physician, rushed to the scene. First aid was given the injured and they were transported back to the valley. Mrs. Killam sustained a broken leg, but bruises were the principal injuries reported by others who were on the trail.

The dangerous trail was ordered closed immediately.

OPIUM CACHE IS FOUND IN LOCAL BANK

Dope Worth $3800, Left as "Medicine" to Chinese, Unearthed in Safe Deposit Vault in Bank of Italy

Wily Wo Lee Matches Wits With White Man's Law, Loses; Pharmacy Inspector Suspicious Aroused by Will

The strangest legacy ever recorded in Alameda county courts was unearthed today.

How the Chinese wily of the wily and venerable Wo Lee led today to the capture of 19 five-ounce cans of opium worth $3800 in the safe deposit vaults of the Oakland branch of the Bank of Italy was revealed when Inspector J. F. McCarthy of the state board of pharmacy confiscated the contraband and deposited it with the property clerk of the police department.

Certain Oriental hieroglyphics in the last testament of Wo Lee filed for probate in the Alameda County Superior Court, donated to Mrs. Lal She of 320 Seventh street, 10 containments of "medicine," which Wo Lee specified were in a safe deposit box in the bank. The bank officials did not know the character of this trust.

CHINESE GUIDE NO MATCH FOR LAW

But with all his guile, Lee did not stop to consider the long arm of the law. Certain detectives wondered that "medicine" should be guarded with such care. For a week Inspector McCarthy worked on the case.

This morning McCarthy, bearing a search warrant and accompanied by a locksmith, broke open the box in the bank vault and revealed that the "medicine" consisted of 19 five-ounce cans of "mud," a conglomeration capable of producing many dreams in the joy pipes of San Francisco bay hopheads.

Somer of this opium had run out of the containers and formed a tar-like mess on the bottom of the metal box. This was later cleared up by R. W. McCorkle, local chemist for the state board of pharmacy. Wo Lee died six months ago. Following his death a will written in Chinese was discovered among his effects. The wily Wo made Mrs. Lal She of Oakland his main beneficiary and he specified very definitely that she was to secure the "medicine" which was a salve for all ills. He neglected to mention the soporific quality of the legacy.

CHINAMAN LOSES BATTLE OF WITS

This did not prevent the American authorities from becoming suspicious, however. In matching his Oriental wits against those of an Occidental, the Chinaman lost.

Inspector McCarthy resorted to the breaking of the box only after a vain search for Mrs. Lal She, the beneficiary who was supposed to have the keys. A few days ago Mrs. She appeared at the bank and tried to gain admittance to the vault. She was turned back by the

Oil Stove Explodes; Sanitarium Burns

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE. CALISTOGA, July 21.—Fire caused by the explosion of an oil stove in one of the tents adjoining the sanitarium of Dr. H. J. Adler in this city, destroyed the hospital and caused damage to the extent of $10,000 last night.

The main building was a frame structure and was destroyed, as were a number of the tent houses in the adjoining colony. The home of G. Glacher, adjoining the sanitarium, was the general but due to the efforts of the firemen, assisted by the patients of the sanitarium, slight damage resulted. This was once the home of Robert Louis Stevenson.

No Fights Expected On Receivership Plan

DENVER, Colo., July 21.—The belief that no opposition would develop to the request for appointment of a receivership for the Denver & Rio Grande western railroad, although there might be some objection to the terms of the order suggested, was expressed in the United States district court here today by Charles A. Boston, New York attorney, in asking for a recess until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the receivership hearing. The recess was granted.

One Killed as Blast Wrecks Powder Mill

EAST ALTON, Ill., July 21.—One man was instantly killed today in an explosion which wrecked a corner mill of the Equitable Powder Company here. Wrecked in homes here were shattered by the blast, the cause of which is undetermined. Edwardsville, fourteen miles away, reported hearing the detonation. The dead man is Edward Owens, 38, of Marlow, Tenn. He was the only man working in the mill.

Knickerbockers, Cigarettes for Women Upheld

NEW YORK, July 21.—Cigarette smoking and knickerbocker wearing by women have reached the stage of controversy, where they are not even "suggestively wrong," County Judge McLaughlin held yesterday in dismissing a vagrancy charge against 15-year-old Mrs. Edna Hobbs Heych. The chief complaint of the police, who arrested her at Bergen Beach, was that she was sitting on a bungalow porch in knickers, nonchalantly puffing at a scented "rag."

"I find nothing wrong, or even suggestively wrong, in wearing such a costume," the court said. "Nor do I consider the fact that the defendant was smoking a cigarette evidence of moral depravity. It must be recognized that day by day women indulge in such numbers in the use of tobacco and that such a process is considered good form in polite society."

MRS. HOPPER NO. 5 SUES FOR DIVORCE

Wife of Famous Actor Will Charge Infidelity, Ask Son's Custody.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Mrs. Hedda Hopper, fifth wife of the comedy star, has started action for a divorce in the Queens county supreme court, where she obtained a summons which was served on her husband. No complaint yet had been filed.

Mrs. Hopper indicated that her application would be made

Mrs. Hedda Hopper, for a referee, alimony and counsel fees pending trial.

"I will file a complaint alleging infidelity at various times and places, but will not name any persons," Mrs. Hopper said. "I will ask for an absolute divorce and the complete custody of Billy, our 7-year-old son."

Before her marriage to the actor in 1913, Mrs. Hopper was Blanche Surry of Philadelphia. Hopper's first wife was Ella Gardner, a second cousin; his second, Ida Mosher of Boston, a member of the chorus; his third, Edna Wallace, a singer; and his fourth, Miss Nell A. Reardon, comic opera star, who divorced him fourteen years ago. Hopper is 64 years old.

Rancher Killer Shoots Himself

Former District Attorney, 80, Slays Neighbor in Trinity County Feud.

REDDING, July 21.—M. P. Rose, 80, former district attorney of Shasta county, following his capture by a posse, admitted that he had shot and killed Jeff Hildreth, prominent rancher, today, and then shot and probably fatally wounded himself.

Officers were proceeding to Weaverville with Rose. At Trinity Center he asked permission to get a drink of water. While behind the hotel he shot himself in the forehead and is reported to be dying. The officers were unable to explain how he secured the run.

Hildreth was found slain at the gate of the Trinity county stock farm.

Rose was captured by a posse on Coffee creek.

Oriental Dancer Sues Cornelius V. Whitney

NEW YORK, July 1 (By International News Service).—Mrs. Florence E. Fontaine, mother of Miss Evan Burrows Fontaine, the Oriental dancer, announced at her home at Kew Gardens, Long Island, this afternoon, that her daughter had started an action against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarry Payne Whitney.

While declining to disclose the exact nature of the suit, Mrs. Fontaine declared that the legitimacy of the rights of her daughter's 18-months-old son were involved. She added that her daughter was not seeking any of "young Whitney's money," but was actuated solely by concern over the child's future.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO END RAIL STRIKE

Harding Summons Chairman Hooper of Labor Board to Washington for Conference; May Call Leaders

Chief of Striking Shophmen Says Men Are Ready to Enter Separate Agreement With Railroad Companies

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Harding, following the meeting of the cabinet today, took steps to bring about a termination of the rail strike. He summoned Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the Railroad Labor Board, to come to the White House at once for a conference.

Harding and Hooper, now at Chicago, talked over the rail strike situation at length in the long distance telephone today.

The President, it was indicated after his conference here with Hooper, may summon rail executives and striking shophmen leaders to Washington for a peace conference.

By CHARLES R. LYNCH.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, July 21.—The rail strike settled into a rut today. Failure of the Washington conference of rail executives to reach any basis for settlement apparently closed the last door to a national move for peace.

The one glimmer of hope was seen in the announcement of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad that it was ready to "confer with its men" in an effort to reach an agreement.

This action held out the possibility of settlement by agreement of individual roads with the strikers.

The "Joker," however, was contained in the words "confer with its men." Union chiefs pointed out that the road might refuse to meet with the union leaders who will be appointed a strikers' representatives. This would block the move before it was started.

On the other hand, if the B. & O. meets with union chiefs and a settlement is effected, other roads will follow the same procedure.

ONE GRIEVANCE OF SHOPMEN REMOVED.

Another optimistic development was the decision of the federal court of appeals here, reversing Federal Judge Page in the Pennsylvania case and restoring to the United States railroad labor board certain powers to protect the interests of the unions. This removes one of the chief grievances of the striking shophmen.

Maintenance of way chairmen were to meet in Detroit today with President E. F. Grable to definitely decide whether Grable's peace negotiations will be adhered to. Indications were that the conference will uphold their leader.

Minor disturbances and further curtailment of train service, the latter due as much to the increasing coal shortage as to the strike, continued.

SEPARATE PEACE PLAN TO BE PUT TO SHOPMEN.

CHICAGO, July 21.—(By International News Service).—Whether the striking shophmen will make separate peace with individual railroads or insist upon a blanket settlement of the controversies will be decided, it is expected, at the meeting today of the executive council of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

Two railroads, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Southern Railway, have expressed willingness to negotiate with their employees for an adjustment of the controversy. B. M. Jewell, strike leader, and his executive committee, will meet here today and, it is believed, will decide whether to sanction or oppose individual settlements with the various roads.

If decision is reached to negotiate with the roads individually it is believed that other railroads will follow the lead taken by the Baltimore and Ohio and the Southern.

Boy Fatally Shot; Exonerates Chum

LONG BEACH, July 21.—"Don't blame Claude," were the last words of Herman Rosenberg, 13 years old, who died here late last night from injuries suffered the night before from a small rifle in the hands of his chum, Claude Washburn, also 13. The boys said they thought the rifle was not loaded.

Strikers' Wives Go to Work to Keep Pot Boiling

By JAS. D. KILGALLEN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, July 21.—When the railroad shopmen struck their wives went to work. Investigation today in the great shop centers at Burnside, South Chicago and Pullman revealed that in many cases the hand that rocks the cradle has been turned to the task of earning dollars. Women who of necessity remain at home have inaugurated a rigid campaign of retrenchment.

"Stick by our men," is the community slogan.

Into the tall office buildings of Chicago, scores of these hardy, foreign-born women are going as scrub women; into the great union stockyards as meat packers and soap makers; into the laundries as washerwomen—into the factories of every description.

CONFERENCE WITH STRIKERS URGED

Gompers Says Government Should Bring Employers, Workers Together.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued today invited the government to urge that the striking coal miners and the striking railroad workers and their respective employers inaugurate direct negotiations.

"We invite the federal government to see to it that employers and workers come together," said Gompers. "The government has done everything except this one logical, necessary thing."

"The government has threatened a great deal. It has talked about troops and about the rights of the public. It has not talked effectively about conference and it has had little or nothing to say about the rights of the workers."

"Labor calls upon the government to talk about conference between employers and workers, both in the coal industry and in the railroad shop strike."

"Conference is the thing that is needed."

"Labor asks for conference with the employers," Gompers added. "If the government wishes results, if it wishes operation of mines and railroads, let it adopt the only course that can secure those results. Let it exert its tremendous influence to bring the employers into conference with the representatives of the workers."

"If the government cares more about sustaining the reputation of its helplessness and all but defunct railroad labor board, if it cares more about a costly and ineffective military show than it does about peace and results, then it is on the right track."

"But labor urges the government to come back to a constructive and sane viewpoint. Labor invites the government of the United States to bring about conference between workers and employers. Labor will enter conference in every case in absolute good faith and unless employers are absolute bourbons and autocrats the strikes can quickly be adjusted and production and transportation put into effective operation."

Thirty Hurt in Booze Riot; 3 Arrested

READING, Pa., July 21.—Twenty persons are in local hospitals, eight in a serious condition, and four others, Earl Snyder, Otto Wentzel, Denny Eyralt and Charles Ernst, prominent in the riot, are under arrest charged with inciting a riot following a free-for-all fight between alleged bootleggers, whisky runners and consumers here today which involved 100 persons. The Franklin produce warehouse was cleaned out. A hurry call for the police prevented more serious consequences.

Twenty Hurt as Ships Meet in Fog

BOSTON, July 21.—Twenty persons, several of them women and children, were injured today when the steamer Dorothy Bradford, plying between Provincetown and this port, rammed a collier during a dense fog. The steamer was able to reach her dock here without assistance and later resumed the trip to Provincetown.

Some of those aboard were severely hurt.

Randall Leads Race For Nebraska Gov.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

OMAHA, Neb., July 21.—Revised unofficial returns from 1873 of the state's 1913 precincts reported from Tuesday's state-wide primary gave Charles Randall of Randolph, a lead of 325 over Adam McMullen, of Beatrice, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The vote was: Randall, 48,084; McMullen, 47,198.

SHOOTING GREET'S TROOPS AT PENNSYLVANIA MINES; U.S. TO DISTRIBUTE COAL

Attempted Dynamiting of Plant Launches Battle; Ohio Firm Makes Appeal for Federal Force

BOARD WILL RATION FUEL

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Distribution of coal during the strike emergency through a special commission was understood today to be the administration plan to make certain the fuel necessary to continued railroad operation. The matter was discussed at today's cabinet meeting and later it was understood that Secretary Hoover, acting for the president, had undertaken the formation of the commission. Indications were given after the cabinet meeting that the president and his advisers regarded the industrial situation as serious, although not without hope. It was stated that the situation in neither the coal fields nor the railroad centers was deemed sufficiently serious at present to require use of federal troops.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 21.—(United Press).—A battle marked with shootings and attempted dynamitings broke out in Fayette county coal fields today between striking miners and guards as national guardsmen converged on the disturbed area.

Guards at the Dearth mine, owned by the H. C. Frick Coke Company, opened fire on miners as they attempted to set fire to the tippie. Investigation showed that an attempt had been made to dynamite the mine.

Detachments of the 1100 national guardsmen sent into five counties in Western Pennsylvania to preserve order were drawing near Fayette county when the battle started.

At the Lamont mine, also owned by Frick, a bomb was hurled at the tippie.

The home of Deputy Sheriff Lindsay Miller, a guard at the Revere mine, was burned to the ground.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 21.—(By the Associated Press).—Declaring that local officials are unable to cope with the situation, and that "Governor Davis has refused to furnish us any protection," the Consolidated Coal and Coke Company today telegraphed President Harding asking that federal troops be sent to guard the company's operations, near New Straitsville, Perry county, Ohio.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 21.—(By International News Service).—Western Pennsylvania coal operators today set about to reopen their bituminous mines and produce coal. From one end of the state to the other every armory was bristling with excitement and activity. Troops were either leaving or preparing to leave immediately for the coal region within a radius of 150 miles of Pittsburgh.

Some troops were already on their way this morning. By tomorrow night the major part of the Twenty-eighth division will be under arms. A part of it will be sent to the western counties; the balance of it will start for camp and will be held there.

Coal will not be dug before the middle of next week at the earliest. Mines that have been idle three months or more must be cleared of debris and put into shape. Operators and miners agree on one point at least, that it will take from three days to three weeks to put the mines in shape.

The United Mine Workers, with their headquarters in Pittsburgh, are watchfully awaiting developments. Leaders say that when non-union diggers go into the mines the pumps and other union help left to protect the workings from flooding and explosions, will be called out at once.

One of the first moves toward the reopening of the mines is the announcement by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest bituminous operator in the country, that it will immediately begin evicting 400 miners families at Montour mine No. 4, Hill station, Washington county. The evictions will make 1000 persons homeless and officials of district 5, United Mine Workers, say they will set up a tent colony.

CAVALRY — MACHINE GUN UNITS BEING USED

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—Pennsylvania cavalrymen and machine gunners are moving into Cambria, Indiana, Somerset, Washington and Westmoreland counties in the southwestern part of the state today to prevent disorder when bituminous mines are reopened. The whole power of the state government is being massed behind them. State police in the affected districts will act with the soldiers.

While the cavalrymen and gunners are going to the strike districts, more than 4000 men will be moving toward Mount Gretna, in the center of the state, to be the first of the two periods of active service of the summer encampment, and 5000 more men are at home stations ready to be called out.

OHIO TROOPS CALLED WHEN MINERS RISE.

CADIZ, O., July 21.—(By International News Service).—Ohio National Guardsmen were expected here today to guard stripping mines operated near here, where non-union miners are employed.

Sheriff C. H. Martin, declaring his deputies are entirely unable to cope with the situation, late yesterday appealed to Governor Davis at Columbus for protection.

It was said at the sheriff's office today that a large force of men, presumably union miners, were massing near the mines and trouble was feared.

Unlike other Ohio coal fields, mines here are operated by stripping off the top, and these are the only unorganized mines in the state, with the exception of a few small wagon workings.

OPERATORS CONFEE WITH INDIANA GOVERNOR.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21.—(By International News Service).—Members of the state committee of Indiana coal operators went into conference with Governor Warren T. McGray today in an effort to work out plans for reopening at least some of the mines in this state.

Pending the outcome of this meeting and formulation of definite plans, no steps have been taken to

Coogans Ask to Be Jackie's Guardian

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—Presenting the unusual situation of both parents of a minor child asking to be appointed guardian of his estate, the case of Jackie Coogan, juvenile film star, was called today before Judge Rives.

The petition was filed by Jack Coogan and his wife, Lillian Coogan, parents of Jackie, and they were in harmony with the plan of Mrs. Coogan being named legal guardian in order to conserve the estate of the child actor, which consists of his large earning power in the films.

The guardianship was sought also in order that the parents might be protected from malicious gossip from those who might believe that the juvenile star's salary was being exploited or misused by the parents.

Cox Boosts League In Paris Papers

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
PARIS, July 21.—Former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio will be the guest of Premier and Madame Poincaré at dinner at the ministry of foreign affairs tomorrow evening, at which a number of the higher French officials also will be present.

Cox was quoted today in newspapers to the effect that while governments came and went the league was a steady, lasting force and therefore "the hope of the world."

SEPARATE PEACE WITH STRIKERS TO BE CONSIDERED

Proposal of Baltimore & Ohio May Be Followed by Other Railways.

The committee to accede to some of the unions' demands. The position taken by the heads of leading roads at the suddenly arranged conference last night, said to have been called on the initiative of Senator Cummins, chairman of the Senate committee, was viewed by those participating as making further such efforts at a settlement appear fruitless. No further conferences were said today to be planned here, and while it was expected the result of the meeting would in some fashion be conveyed to President Harding, well-informed persons said he did not contemplate calling the rail heads into conference himself, so that any further move appeared to be left again to the Railroad Labor Board, the rail executives or the unions.

NEW LEGISLATION NOT PRACTICABLE

The meeting last night, which Senator Cummins in a subsequent statement said was arranged to discuss the possibility of "legislation that would remove the difficulty in the way of adjustment," resulted in a full discussion of the points at issue between the railroads and the strikers, it was said, and the conclusion that no legislation was practicable to deal with the situation.

President Harding was advised today by Chairman Cummins and Senators Watson of Indiana and Kellogg of Minnesota, of the Senate interstate commerce committee, of the unavailing efforts made by them in the conference with several leading eastern railroad executives last night to obtain a basis for settlement of the strike.

The three committee members went to the White House shortly after 9 o'clock and laid before the President the full details of the conference. They declined to discuss their report prior to its presentation to the President.

FUTURE CONFERENCES CONSIDERED LIKELY.

On leaving the White House the Senators said they had merely

What Is Stoic? Here's Definition In 'Eastsides'

NEW YORK, July 21.—That a proverbial brown derby, if it can be found quickly, should be awarded, without hesitation, to Aaron Sokolski, "East Side" student.

"Who can give me the definition of stoic?" Aaron's teacher is reported to have queried. "I can, teacher," Aaron is said to have replied. "A stoic is de bold what brings de babies."

made a report to the President concerning the meeting with the executives. It was said that future conferences "probably" would be held, but it was not stated who would participate.

Senator Cummins seemed rather pessimistic, but Senator Watson was in a more optimistic mood, declaring he believed some way would be found to end the strike.

The early conference between the President and the Senators was arranged, it was thought, so that Harding could lay the matter before the cabinet at its meeting today.

The railroad executives in their conference were understood to have declared most emphatically that there would be no cessation of the seniority rights.

Nebraska Citizens Drafted as Guards

FREMONT, Neb., July 21.—(United Press.)—Fremont is virtually under martial law today as 150 citizens were forced into arms by city officials to maintain law and order as an outgrowth of the strike of railroad shopmen.

The eleven Chicago & North-western strikebreakers who were driven out of town last Friday morning by strikers were returned to the city today and escorted by deputized citizens to the Dodge county courthouse, where they appeared as witnesses against fifteen strikers who are to be arraigned on the charge of abduction.

Intense excitement prevailed following the application of the state law which authorizes the deputization of citizens in case of emergency. Many of the drafted men have taken up arms under protest. Included in the ranks are businessmen, professional men and men from all walks of life.

The drafting of deputies came last night like a sudden thunder stroke. Police were posted on every corner as witnesses against strikers with names taken from the rosters of the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce, and the citizens were ordered to appear for deputization or suffer the penalty provided by law.

IRISH REGULARS TAKE LIMERICK AFTER BATTLE

48 Hours; Rebels Mine and Fire Buildings, Flee.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, July 21.—(Passed by military censor.)—Republican irregulars have completely evacuated Waterford and are retreating southward, abandoning large quantities of war materials, was announced today.

Free State troops (regulars), under Colonel Thomas, penetrated the city and captured the chief rebel (irregular) stronghold without opposition.

Heavy artillery fire was directed by the Free Staters against the barracks, exploding five mines. There was violent fighting at Waterford before the Free Staters breached the rebels' lines and penetrated the city. Artillery on the heights flanking the river kept up a heavy bombardment of the city for 48 hours.

BLOW UP BUILDINGS.

As the rebels retired they mined and set fire to many buildings. While the southern push of the Free Staters continues, the chief seats of action were Waterford and Limerick.

Artillery has been active at Limerick, but today the fighting had died down to sniping and skirmishing.

The irregulars still hold several strongholds at Limerick. At Roscrea eleven irregulars were captured while attempting to ambush Free State troops.

A number of persons are reported to have been killed and wounded by the explosion of a land mine in County Waterford.

WILL SUCCEED WILSON.

NEWTOWNARDS, North Down, Ireland, July 21 (By the Associated Press.)—Major-General Rt. Rev. J. M. Simms, former chaplain-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces, has been elected to succeed the late Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson as member of parliament, it was announced today.

Strikers Ready for Separate Parleys

CHICAGO, July 21.—Striking shopmen are ready to negotiate with individual roads. Bert M. Jewell, president of the shopmen, declared today that peace may result from conferences with separate roads.

"It is my belief, however, that separate agreements would not be as satisfactory as a national agreement," Jewell said, "but our aim is to end the strike. We do not care in what manner it is ended as long as the roads agree to our demands."

Several leading roads were reported ready to negotiate agreements.

Wabash to Cancel Hannibal Service

HANNIBAL, Mo., July 21.—By tomorrow all Wabash train service into Hannibal will be canceled, according to an announcement of officials of that road today. Two west-bound trains, and two east-bound trains will run only to East Hannibal, across the Mississippi river from this city. Wabash officials were reluctant to cancel service for this order, but intimated that the attitude of local authorities in regard to protection had influenced them in passing up Hannibal.

Collision Forces Liner To Return to Port

PLYMOUTH, England, July 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British steamer Remura, bound for New Zealand via the Panama canal with 544 passengers including William E. ("Pussyfoot") Johnson, collided last evening during a fog with an unidentified vessel near the Lizard.

An S. O. S. call was sent, but later the Remura announced she was returning to Portland. Her life boats had been out all night vainly searching for traces of the other vessel.

Tugs which picked up the Remura twenty miles from Portland, found her damaged in three of her holds. Her pumps controlled the water, however, and the liner reached Portland under her own steam.

The liner, a 11,000 ton vessel, could not make a pier at Portland, however, and she was beached on the Mud Flats.

Her passengers were all landed.

Ohm—Unit of resistance. Resistance offered by a column of mercury at temperature of melting ice, 14.42 at temperature of constant cross section, and having length of 106.3 cms. Circuit has resistance of one ohm when one volt is required to force a current of one ampere through it. Voltage divided by amperage gives ohms.

Disturbances Cause Call for Militiamen

SIoux CITY, Ia., July 21.—The first call for militia in Iowa has been made as the result of strike disturbances.

The Chicago Great Western railroad has appealed to Governor Kendall for troops to guard its property in Oelwein, Ia. It was learned here on good authority.

It is alleged that strikers, or strike sympathizers, made an attack on the Oelwein roundhouse last night and that a Chicago passenger train was stoned yesterday.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 21.—Governor Kendall has been asked by attorneys for the Chicago, Great Western Railroad to send troops to Oelwein, Ia., to protect the company's property there, it became known this afternoon. Governor Kendall is of the opinion that the local authorities can handle the situation at Oelwein and is not expected to send troops.

Reports reaching the governor's office this afternoon from Oelwein state that there has been no disturbances or violence there.

Sheriff C. C. Wright of Fayette county has been notified to keep the governor informed of conditions. Several hundred Great Western shopmen are on strike at Oelwein.

SIoux CITY, Ia., July 21.—Moroeno Neva, a Mexican, alleged leader of a mob which is said to have stoned a Great Western passenger train at Oelwein, Ia., was brought to Sioux City by Sheriff Jack Wagner of Blackhawk county, and is held at the first violator of the Federal railroad injunctions in Northern Iowa district.

Neva will be arraigned before Federal Judge George C. Scott. At the head of a mob of 200 persons Neva is alleged to have led the dash upon a Great Western train as it entered Oelwein. Bricks and missiles were hurled at the coaches as the train entered the station, it is said.

Strikers Enjoined From Using Pickets

SPOKANE, July 21.—A temporary restraining order enjoining strikers on the Great Northern in Eastern Washington from maintaining pickets about railroad property or otherwise interfering with traffic on that line, and asserting that violence and intimidation are being used by strikers in dealings with new employees was signed by Federal Judge Frank V. Rudkin.

Approximately 900 Great Northern strikers here and at Hillyard, about three miles east of Spokane, are directly affected by the order. Similar action, it is rumored, is contemplated by officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Northern Pacific and Union Pacific roads here. Enforcement of the order is in the hands of the United States marshal, and preparations are reported underway to swear in an adequate force of deputies for enforcement of the order.

The defense attorneys are ordered to appear in Federal court here July 27 to show cause why the temporary restraining order should not be made permanent.

Wives of Strikers Cause Men to Quit

STOCKTON, July 21.—Twenty wives of striking shopmen visited the Western Pacific roundhouse here and waged a campaign to cause non-union men to leave work and guards to vacate the company's property.

They succeeded in getting eight non-union men to walk out. Three guards promised the strikers' wives that they would not report for duty tomorrow. Only two guards are now left in the company's employ here, so the statement of the strikers claims.

Northern Roads to Curtail Service

SPOKANE, July 21.—Curtailment of freight service on the four big railroads here was expected today as the next step in the strike situation, with the announcement that eight Great Northern passenger trains and several more Northern Pacific trains were to be cancelled.

So far the Northern Pacific has cancelled 32 trains, 22 on the Western division. The eight Great Northern trains are the only ones of that line being cancelled in this division, it is said. Trains dropped thus far are all on branch or local runs.

No cancellations have been announced yet by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul or the Oregon-Washington railways, but they are expected.

Many Army Trucks Can Handle Mails

DENVER, Colo., July 21.—Colonel A. L. Bowby, chief of the war materials department of the bureau of public roads at Washington, telegraphed the Colorado State highway department today inquiring how many army trucks Colorado could furnish to carry government mails in an emergency.

He was informed two hundred trucks could be placed immediately at the disposal of the government. The trucks are scattered throughout the various counties of the state. The trucks are those turned over to the state highway department after the world war for use in road work.

It is understood similar telegrams have been sent to other states.

TRAFFIC RULES FOR AIR PUZZLE IN WASHINGTON

District of Columbia Police Fear Difficulty in Catching Law Violators.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (By the Associated Press).—How're you going to catch a law-breaking airman a thousand feet up in the air when you haven't a plane, balloon or even a stepladder to get him with? That's the question nagging the District of Columbia police today on the eve of the going into effect of Washington's newest and most stringent traffic regulation.

Hereafter police will be expected to see that no flighty human flier skims lower than the fixed safety limit; that none of them attempt any fancy flying; and—worst of all—that every flier over Washington's roofs has a license.

It's the last section of the new rule that bothers the cops most, for there's not a single plane owned by the entire police force with which to stop the reckless in mid-air to gruffly demand a sight of their permits; and what's more, say police officers, the one on the force sees any possibility of there ever being one.

PUZZLED FOR ANSWER.

Nevertheless, there's the law, and the coppers are scratching their heads to find a way out.

The air traffic rule is the direct outcome of the act of a commercial flier who flew so low over the assemblage at the dedication of the Lincoln memorial, last Decoration day, that he drowned out President Harding's voice during his address. Public and official denunciation quickly aroused Congress to the promulgation of the regulation and stiff fines now await the unthinking flier.

While the order was issued a month ago, the penalties do not go into effect until midnight tonight. It is provided that no flier shall descend lower than 3000 feet within the District of Columbia boundaries, unless landing, taking off, or en route to another point; that all persons except United States agents, such as army, navy, marine corps and mail fliers, must be duly licensed pilots; that no trick flying shall be attempted under any circumstances, and that aviators shall land only at designated fields.

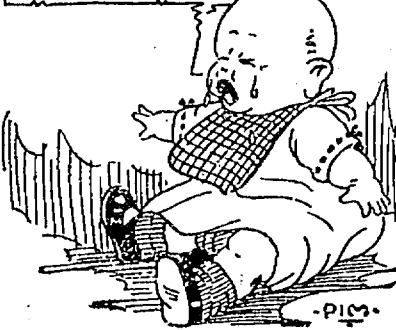

TO GIVE FREE LICENSES.

Qualified pilots will be granted free licenses by the district commissioners and licenses issued by any lawfully created board of any state or by any branch of the federal government will be accepted in qualification. However, pilots passing over the district without descending into the safety zone will not be expected to have a license.

Police officials do not expect air traffic to become a very great problem for some time yet, so they will rely upon the integrity of pilots to keep within the law. If any of them try to pull the wool over police eyes by fleeing after they break the law, eagle eyes will mark

BLANTON HOLDS SPOTLIGHT IN TEXAS ELECTION

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DALLAS, July 21.—Of the eleven congressional districts in Texas in which there are contests for the Democratic nomination in the primary of Saturday, July 22, the Seventeenth, which now is represented by Thomas L. Blanton, is attracting most interest because of the action of the House in censuring him. Blanton has four opponents. Blanton has defended himself energetically in his own district, where he claims many staunch supporters.

Those opposing him are Ernest G. Albright of Brownwood; Oscar Calloway, Comanche; J. B. Dibrell, Coleman, and N. S. Holland, Jones county.

Usually nomination at the Democratic primaries in Texas is equivalent to election.

One woman, Mrs. F. M. B. Hughes of Wharton, is seeking nomination for congress. She is running in the Ninth district, and is opposing not only J. J. Mansfield, of Columbus, the present congressman, but four other men.

Governor Pat M. Neff, seeking a second term, is opposed for the nomination by Fred S. Rogers, of Bonham, W. B. King, of Granger, and Harry T. Warner, of Paris. Mr. Warner is editor of the Paris News, a morning newspaper.

Field Fire Destroys 6000 Acres of Oats

LOCKEFORD, July 21.—A spark from a caterpillar attached to a combined harvester started a blaze east of Elliott sweeping away 600 acres of oats, causing a loss of $2200 to Stealy & Stealy. The entire countryside was out to combat the blaze, which for a time threatened large adjoining grain fields.

Their descent and they'll be nabbed anyway. At least one such recalcitrant flier who made a nuisance of himself, as well as a possible danger, by flying low over a crowded ball park and throwing out advertising "fliers" has already fallen into police clutches, officers said. When he landed a copper was awaiting him with a warrant for breaking the law in regard to cluttering public places with paper.

Red Cross Girls Are Setting Style

CETTINJE, Montenegro, July 21.—For more than 500 years the women of Montenegro have been mourning. They have worn the solemn black clothes and little

"pork-pie" caps of a drab hue all this time as a token of their grief over the loss of Montenegro's independence to the Turks in 1389. But now that they are united with the Serbians, they are changing to less sombre raiment.

American girls have had something to do with other changes in the style of women's dress. When they came here with the American Red Cross they introduced smart short skirts, picture hats, and pointed high-heeled shoes. These have been adopted by some of the native women. Any afternoon now one may see on Cetinje's only boulevard women attired in bright-colored gowns and wearing American-style hats and shoes.

British Merchants Taught By America

LONDON, July 21.—As a "nation of shopkeepers" Britain perceives that she stands in need of increasing greatly her business with the world generally. Many men have maintained she could best learn how to do this from America, and not a few are arguing that she can become as prosperous as America only by adopting the American fiscal policy of protection. But this is not the view held by the Right Honorable L. C. M. S. Amery, M. P., parliamentary secretary to the Admiralty. He believes much can be learned from America, but that the great lesson is not protection.

BANKERS TO BE SHOWN PROGRESS IN GREAT EASTBAY

Several Hundred Will Reach Here Tomorrow on Way to Their Homes.

Tomorrow will be bankers' day in this city.

Early in the morning a delegation of several hundred bankers, representing moneyed interests all over the country, en route to their homes from the convention of the American Institute of Banking at Portland, will be the guests of the local banks.

Arrangements have been completed by local members of the institute for the entertainment of the visitors, who will be met at the sixteenth street station and taken through a tour of the Eastbay district, which will be followed by a lunch at the Hotel Oakland.

The tour will be made by automobile and will include all the points of interest in the district. The bankers will be shown the industrial centers of the city and will be taken over the ground where development is planned in the immediate future. Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the city officials will accompany the tourists.

The tour has been planned with a view of broadening the views of the eastern delegates to the American institute and giving them an opportunity of viewing the rapid development of the Eastbay section into the metropolis of the west.

At the luncheon in the Hotel Oakland addresses will be made by civic leaders, who will explain the import of the various building programs and will outline the resources and advantages of Oakland and environs. After the entertain-

Native Daughters and Sons Crown Festival Queen

Miss Lillian Nuttman Winner of Regal Honors at Mardi Gras.

SAN JOSE, July 21.—Joy reigned supreme at the big mardi gras and circus of the local Native Sons and Daughters last night when Miss Lillian Nuttman of Santa Clara was crowned queen of the mardi gras, her election having been assured by the final tabulation of votes after a spirited contest.

With full pomp and ceremony the coronation took place amidst a riot of cheers and laughter, Miss Nuttman being honored by presentation of a $400 diamond ring as a reward for her efforts.

Miss Irma Hart received the second prize, a $250 ring, she running an easy second. Miss Alice De Vincenzi was third, Miss Tessie Utzerath fourth, Miss Sadie Bishop fifth and Miss Alice Dreishmeyer sixth.

Miss Edna Billingsley, daughter of Mrs. Edna Billingsley, won first prize in the native baby show.

mobilize Indiana National Guard troops to furnish protection to miners who go to work.

LANSING, Mich., July 21.—(By United Press.)—An appeal was made to Michigan miners by Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck today asking them to return to work under government operation. In a letter to T. Leo Jones, president of district 24 of the United Mine Workers, the governor offered the men the choice of two propositions:

1. Coal be mined for the institutions only, any surplus to be distributed through a committee representing miners, operators and state.
2. Coal to be mined for the institutions only, any surplus to be disposed of according to the wishes of a committee of miners.

STRIKES ARE PARALYZING COUNTRY'S INDUSTRIES.

(Copyright, 1922, by United Press.) WASHINGTON, July 21.—Slowly paralyzing the nation's industries, threatening widespread shortages of light and heat within a few days, causing increasing disorders, loss of life and property damage already running into millions, the combined rail and coal strikes have brought on an industrial crisis, the magnitude of which was revealed in exclusive reports to the United Press today from all parts of the country.

Not only are wheels slowing on the country's transportation system, but public utilities are closing down and actual starvation because of shortage of coal is not far off, advisers indicate.

Disorders are reported from coast to coast. New England carriers announce increasing sabotage on many lines. Pacific Coast roads report kidnappings and beatings.

Trouble is feared in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio as mines are reopened. State troops are out in New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Serious fuel shortages are reported from all parts of the country. Some steamship lines on the great lakes are down to four days' supply. Cleveland has only three days' ration of coal for its light plant. Iowa farmers are hard pressed for fuel to run threshing machines and public utilities. Des Moines' water works must close in fifteen days.

Denver has been hit, due to curtailment of tourist traffic that ordinarily brings upwards of $1,000,000 annually.

BUSINESS, BIG AND LITTLE, FEELS PINCH.

Business, big and little, throughout the country felt the pinch today, mated at 50 per cent. The steel industry at Youngstown, O., was limping—down to "scrapings."

Rationing, confiscation and emergency measures to import coal were announced from many states. Wisconsin expects to ration fuel shortly. Ohio threatens to confiscate private coal shipments. Industries at Cleveland will start closing down in five days unless emergency rationing is immediately effective.

A report of representative States showed:

Massachusetts—Has only one-fifth of its necessary coal supply for this time of year. Progress towards alleviating the shortage hampered by sabotage on railroads.

Pennsylvania—Has had eight deaths and several hundred injured due to the combined purposes of coal for commercial strikes; no coal for commercial purposes being mined in the western part of the State; the average weekly loss in production of coke in the Connellsville region is $6,750 tons.

Illinois—With the Herrin tragedy, has suffered the heaviest loss of life of any State. Property damage runs in seven figures.

COMMISSION TO PROBE COAL INDUSTRY SURE.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (By the Associated Press).—Appointment of a commission to go into the coal mining situation, notwithstanding the refusal of mine workers and a minority of operators to accept such arbitration, will be made "in due time," it became known at the White House last night when telegraphic correspondence between President Harding and Governor Sprout of Pennsylvania on the subject was made public.

Governor Sprout telegraphed he hoped that the President was merely withholding appointment of a commission until it could be determined whether satisfactory production would result under the program which has been adopted by the administration.

Replying, President Harding said: "Matters are temporarily in suspension because when arbitration was denied there was but one consistent thing to do as I saw it, and that was to invite production. You may expect the selection of a commission, because American welfare will not permit those who assume to serve it to deny for any reason the supply of such a necessity as fuel and thereby jeopardize American life and health and happiness.

"Moreover, there was a third party to submit its case to the commission—the great American public. The primary object was the prompt and just ending of a dispute. The broader purposes was a searching inquiry into the coal industry, to learn the causes of dispute and find a way to avoid them in the future. It may be desirable to modify the form of the commission as originally proposed, because it was first designed to meet most promptly the exigency then existing.

"The commission will come in due time. There is an authority above all workers and operators, and that authority—the American public—must have an agency of effective expression."

HARTMAN TALKS TO CLUBWOMEN

As the third largest city in California, Oakland should have representatives of its estate departmental branches established here, according to a message issued by Mayor

John L. Davis and presented to the Business and Professional Women's Club, following the weekly luncheon yesterday. Mayor Davis requested the appointment of a committee from the club to study this proposition and to assist in obtaining state bureau.

While, as children the men and women of today were laughing at him as a clown, they were hearing good music, good voices and acquiring an appreciation of the art in the old Tivoli, Ferris Hartman told the clubwomen yesterday. Hartman was the principal speaker of the day. He declared there was a deeper appreciation of music here than in any one community in the United States. In reminiscences of the old Tivoli, Hartman reviewed the list of "discovers" who later achieved fame. Carlo Roma and Alice Nielsen were included.

Miss Zanetta W. Potter was chairman of program. In compliment to the newly organized Business and Professional Women's Club in Berkeley, the Oakland club will give a dinner on Thursday night of next week in the quarters, 1741 Broadway.

Geraldine SuesSpouse for Debt

NEW YORK, July 21.—Geraldine Farrar, opera singer, who is suing her actor husband, Lou Tellegen, for divorce, has instituted another suit, it was learned today, demanding payment of $30,000 she alleges her husband borrowed from her during the four years they lived together.

In an answer to the suit mailed to Miss Farrar's attorneys last month, Tellegen claimed that the debt had been paid in full. Supreme Court Justice Donnelly yesterday denied an application filed by Miss Farrar's counsel requesting that the

Mrs. McPherson Scores Modern Preacher's Style

By FRANK B. SCHUMANN.

An audience of over 7,000, assisted by an orchestra of 30 pieces and a choir of 300, last night brought the old-time revival spirit to the tent-tabernacle on Twenty-sixth street, where Almee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, is conducting a series of evangelistic meetings.

Hymn after hymn of the old tent meeting type were sung by the huge gathering led by Dr. Charles Price, former Congregational pastor of Oakland, and at present at Lodi.

Preachers and workers of the church who are delivering formal sermons without the fire of the old-time religion were severely scored as failures by Mrs. McPherson, both in her sermon yesterday afternoon and the one last night.

Thousands attended the afternoon meeting, more than half filling the mammoth tent which covers more than an acre. Altar calls which were issued after both the morning and evening services were responded to by scores.

A special meeting for people over 60 was held this afternoon. A section directly in front of the rostrum was reserved for them, and an altar call and healing service was held especially for them.

AT REQUEST OF OLD FOLK.

According to Mrs. McPherson, this special meeting comes as the result of a request made by the old folk at the preparatory meetings held every morning. At these meetings, which are conducted by assistants of Mrs. McPherson to prepare for the healing service, dozens of them yesterday entreated the workers for a meeting where they would receive special attention.

Two of the Serbian gypsy women, as representatives of the group who had journeyed from the East, to attend the meeting, presented Mrs. McPherson with bouquets of flowers during the afternoon service yesterday as a token of appreciation.

Rev. Harold Govette, pastor of the Olivet Congregational church, offered the opening prayer. Dr. Price of Lodi gave a short talk in which he scored the worldliness of ministers. The ministers' quartet gave several vocal selections.

The sermon by Mrs. McPherson was the first in a short series on "The Holy Spirit."

DISCOVERS POWER.

"Those of us in the ministry realize that we need something that will give us more power," she stated. "I verily believe that I have discovered that power in the Holy Spirit."

"Scolding will not get us anywhere in the church—what we need is the Holy Spirit to bring back the young people from the theaters and the dance halls. We need the Holy Spirit to bring back the real life for the modern church."

"Ministers who doctor up a sermon by taking a little from one man's famous talk and a little more from another and then make it appear as their own are not workers of the church, and there is something fundamental lacking in their make-up as ministers of the gospel. Let's get back this old-time power that they are lacking, and our churches will be full. It will not be necessary to have suppers and entertainments and things of a like nature to fill out churches. I believe that every minister of the gospel must have the power of the Holy Spirit before he can do any real work. Like everything else in the world, the thing that the church needs today is power."

"We need something that will make us broad, not something that will send us off on a tangent on some fanatical manifestation."

Rev. R. H. Moon, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, gave the opening prayer of the evening service. Special musical numbers of the service included a tenor solo by E. J. Yager and a baritone solo by M. Haine.

SAYS WORK SHIRKED.

"The Life and Growth of Peter," was used by Mrs. McPherson as the base of her talk, in which she used the life of Peter as a measuring rod for all Christians.

Ministers and workers of the church who shirked their work and ran away when confronted with something they did not feel themselves equal to, were labeled as the type of Christian who are unable to grow.

"I believe that the Lord wants us all to be growing Christians," declared Mrs. McPherson. "There are some Christians who have never really grown. It is a good thing for us to back ourselves up to the word of God every once and a while and see if we really measure up."

"More people are held back from the church today by the fear that they cannot hold on than by anything else. With some it is like a discipling of the soul at sea. The least little disturbance and they immediately become frightened and start doubting."

"Don't stop and take time to fix up your religion to make it sound nice. So many preaching the gospel fix it up in such a way in an attempt to make it appear as though it becomes distorted and the real thing cannot be recognized."

"I have never catered to the rich, or attempted to preach an easy gospel, but the unfettered word of God as I see and interpret it from the Bible."

"Too many people are like Peter who, after denying his Lord, started out in the world looking for a fortune."

Dr. W. K. Townner, of the First Baptist church of San Jose, offered the closing prayer of the service.

This evening's message is to be on "Lost and Restored," and is to be an illustrated talk.

Battle Problems Taught Reserves

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Companies of the Nineteenth Infantry worked out battle problems in the Marin county hills yesterday. The maneuvers were held for the instruction of students of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Fort Baker and the individuals who are attending the Citizens Military Training Camp at Fort Barry. Rifle fire and the fire of machine guns and hidden nests added to the realism of the miniature warfare, which continued for several hours.

Shrine Convention Expense $300,000

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Col. George Palmer, general chairman of the Shrine convention committee, announced yesterday that there is $120,000 left over and above the expenses of the convention. It cost approximately $200,000 to look after the convention guests. The work of mailing checks to the 6,000 individuals who contributed to the convention fund, will begin soon.

Spouse's Old Loves Stir Divorce Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Mrs. Ruth Peters, 521 Capp street, has filed suit for divorce against Anton Peters, a goldsmith, charging among other things that her husband hugged and kissed one of their guests on their wedding night. She also alleged that her husband covered with pictures of pretty girls and that he had a habit of telling her he could have married any of them if he had wanted to, and now wished he had. Peters filed suit for divorce a couple of months ago. He charged that his wife was often absent from home. The suit was later dropped. Monthly alimony in the sum of $100 is asked by Mrs. Peters.

Spreckels Sued for Price of Necklace

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Tiffany & Company, of London, yesterday filed suit in the local courts against John D. Spreckels Sr. and Walter D. K. Gibson, executors of the estate of John D. Spreckels Jr., for $30,350, said to be due on the purchase price of a pearl necklace. Mrs. John D. Spreckels Jr. is said to have purchased the necklace and failed to pay for it.

PROSPERITY IN PALESTINE IS WAR AFTERMATH

Wages Have Risen and Good Mechanics Command $5 Per Day.

JERUSALEM, July 21.—No one who knew the Holy Land in the days of the Turkish regime can fail to note the great changes that have taken place throughout the country since the close of the war. The Turkish army stripped Palestine of its animals to such a degree that when the American Red Cross arrived in June of 1918 there were many villages without a single playing animal, and neither sheep nor goats were seen on the hillsides. Today it is not uncommon for an automobile to come to standstill on the principal streets of Jerusalem to allow a flock of hundreds of sheep and goats to pass by, and out of their gloom material from the kids of Palestine.

Whereas much still remains to be done, a great improvement already has been made in the character of the work animals. The army left behind it tens of thousands of horses, mules and donkeys, but even better than this the natives seem to have learned valuable lessons in the care and feeding of stock, so that today the horses of the public carriages in Jerusalem are far sleeker and finer than ever they were before the war.

Farm produce of all kinds brings a much better price than formerly; hence the villagers are prosperous and indulge in luxuries undreamed of in pre-war days. The markets of Jerusalem were never before supplied with such a wealth and variety of delectable articles, and vendors of lemonade and ice cream do a thriving business. In the dry goods, clothing and shoe stores the most fastidious can find French and English, and to a lesser degree American goods, for which they did not even look in pre-war days.

It is interesting to note the changes in the villagers. Formerly they nearly all walked to Jerusalem even from a distance that took them four to five hours. Now public automobiles run out into the country for ten miles and have largely monopolized transportation. The charge for a ride is 50 cents, formerly the price of a day's work. The roads are now almost deserted by pedestrians, but American motor cars pass frequently. The road is now a thing of the past, and the quality of workmanship has kept pace with the rise in prices, and whereas in country

LIGHTNING HITS HAY LOAD, KILLS MAN IN OREGON

PRINCESS TRAINS FOR EMPRESS

TOKYO, July 21.—Princess Negako, the future empress of Japan, whose engagement to the prince regent has just been officially announced, has attained her twentieth year, and is regarded by the nation as the personification of beauty, virtue and love.

She was born in the simplest of the princely residences of the imperial family and her infancy was spent during the absence of her father, Prince Kuni, at the Russo-Japanese war, entirely unaware of the influence of her mother, the head of the old feudal clan of Satsuma that embodies all the stern virtues of traditional Japan.

When two years ago she was informally selected to be the future empress, her education was specially fitted to her future duties.

She is attaining real fluency in French and is gifted with keen artistic temperament. She loves poetry and translated into music her own composition a poem, "A Spring Morning." She has a good soprano voice and takes lessons in piano, water color charcoal drawing and purely Japanese painting.

The princess is a little over the average height of Japanese women, and has always been fond of outdoor life. She has a small garden near her study, where she cultivates herself flowers, strawberries and vegetables.

Detroit Afternoon Papers to Merge

DETROIT, Mich., July 21.—Purchase of the Detroit Journal by the Detroit News was announced today. The newspapers, both in the afternoon field, are to be merged immediately, the Journal ceasing publication with its edition today. The Journal plant is to be disposed of. The total purchase price for the title and good will was in excess of $2,000,000, it was announced.

The News is owned by the Scripps estate and the Journal was the property of C. C. Vernam. Paul Block and H. S. Talmadge of New York and N. C. Wright of Detroit.

There are found some excellent mechanics, most of the trades are carried on by very mediocre artisans. A prominent educated Syrian Christian recently expressed the view that the Zion movement was a good thing for the Syrians, as it would prove a spur to greater effort and improvement.

Manteca Nurse

Injured by Auto

MANTECA, July 21.—Mrs. Mary Knibbs, office nurse for Dr. W. E. Tretloway, is at the Manteca Hospital suffering from severe injuries to her spine, sustained when an auto, driven by William Hickox of French Camp, struck her as she was walking to her home early in the evening. The car, in turning out to pass another, swerved suddenly and struck down Mrs. Knibbs, who was picked up and rushed to the hospital.

Man Is Sought on Bad Check Charge

SAN RAFAEL, July 21.—Authorities of the bay cities are searching for J. F. La Per of San Francisco on a charge of passing a bad $500 check sworn to before Justice of the Peace Heredia de la Montanya by Al Gales, proprietor of a soft drink place at Sausalito.

The check, according to Gales, was given in exchange for $650 in Liberty bonds which he advanced so that La Per could pay a fine imposed by the federal court in San Francisco when La Per was convicted of operating an illicit still at San Mateo.

Removal of Banking Heads Demanded

SEATTLE, Wash., July 21.—Resolutions calling upon Governor Hart to remove immediately John P. Duke, state supervisor of banking, and R. A. Langley, his deputy, were adopted by 500 depositors of the defunct Scandinavian-American bank at a meeting here last night.

Former Superior Judge Clay Allen charged that the state officials had been "absolutely derelict in their duties, as the public examination of the Scandinavian-American bank shows."

Auto Hits Woman; Other Mishaps

Mrs. Josephine Turner was slightly injured when she was run down by an automobile at East Twelfth street and Sixth avenue last night. The machine was driven by H. Anderson, 616 Madison street, Albany.

Following the accident Anderson in making a quick stop ran his car into the curb, which caused him to break a rear wheel. The wheel continued moving and crashed through the large plate glass door of the Olsen grocery store, 537 East Twelfth street.

Mrs. Turner was taken to her home, 980 Sixth avenue, where she was treated for cuts and bruises.

Back at Work With Sound Heart

Oakland, July 20, 1922.

For over three years, I suffered from heart trouble off and on. Recently, it had become so bad I could scarcely stand up. I was unable to work for months and my heart pounded day and night. I could not even take a deep breath without pain. Various doctors pronounced my trouble leakage of the heart with enlarged valve, and said that I must undergo an operation. I was afraid to take the risk, and did not know which way to most of which I had read in an Oakland newspaper of some of the wonderful cures made by the FONG WAN HERBALIST. I consulted him immediately and began to take his herbs. Now after having drunk them for three weeks, I am feeling splendid and am back at work again in the ALBERS BROS. FLOUR MILLING CO.

Mr. C. G. Jones and Mrs. Silva, both of Oakland, have been cured of heart trouble. Mr. Jones was treated for leakage of the heart in the hospital for over a year. After taking Fong Wan Herbs for two months he has been working every day since.

Mrs. May Silva and Mrs. Julia Andrade both have been cured of heart trouble and have their testimonials at the Fong Wan office.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

Since its establishment in Oakland, some seven years ago, the FONG WAN HERB CO. has wrought marvels. Because it has made no change of Specialist throughout this period, it has been able to render uniformly satisfactory service. The FONG WAN HERB CO. is located at 548 8th St., corner Clay, and it has no connection with any other herb company.

Our former employees have imitated its methods of doing business and copied its formulae for relieving the sick. They have even devised names for their companies nearly resembling that of FONG WAN, and have similar business cards printed. Furthermore, they have attracted a number of the former customers of the FONG WAN CO. to their establishments by leading them to believe that the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST had moved thither. However, these persons after brief experience with the would-be herbalists, have returned to the FONG WAN CO. in search of the genuine Specialist.

In their advertisements, these imitators of the FONG WAN say that they have herbalists of long experience and of the first rank. Such a statement is absolutely untrue; they have no testimonials to prove it, while on the other hand, the FONG WAN CO. can substantiate every statement it makes. One can judge of the standing of these Herbalists by the repeated calls at their offices. He will soon see that the public is making no rush for their herbs and patrons are few and far between. There is one Herbalist, however, who claims to be the "doctor" in both cases open to the public and the same circle of patrons coming all the year long, but never set forth entirely well.

Such a condition proves that the patronage of these Herbalists is very small; consequently, it is impossible for them to gain a wide and diversified experience. They print but very few testimonials, and compound herbs, and a knowledge both of the properties of the herbs and the peculiarities of various ailments. Best of all, the majority of sufferers who come to him are permanently relieved.

MAJOR ROWAN AWARDED CROSS FOR SERVICES

Officer Who Took Message to Garcia Recognized After Many Years.

Major Andrew S. Rowan, of San Francisco, well known in Oakland not only as "the man who carried the message to Garcia," but as a frequent speaker at local gatherings, has been awarded a distinguished service cross by the War Department in recognition of the service he rendered the United States in the incident, made famous by Elbert Hubbard.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War in 1898, Rowan, then a lieutenant in the regular army, overcame innumerable obstacles in order to carry a message from the American forces in Cuba to the Cuban general, Garcia, which enabled the two armies to co-operate on an important military project.

SECURED INFORMATION. Also, his citation says, "he secured secret information relative to existing military conditions in the region that was of such great value that it had an important bearing on the quick ending of the struggle and the complete success of the United States Army."

As "the man who carried the message to Garcia," Rowan has been made known to the entire world in an essay by the late Elbert Hubbard, who held him up to the youth of the world as an inspiring example of unquestioning obedience and quiet heroism.

The Story of a "Four Time Loser," Who is Lecturing on Criminology at the University of California

By GEO. C. HENDERSON

LESSONS IN CRIME.
When Frank Jones dropped the "hot start" at a pawnshop and was clocked by the Los Angeles bulls, he ended up by rapping on the K. C. Kid.

The Kid at this time was 16 years old and he had been giving the police of the California city considerable trouble for more than twenty-four months.

The judge of the juvenile court sentenced the Kid to Lone Reform School until he was of age and so the youth received his first "jolt."

At first he worked as a roustabout with a pick and shovel, but finally he secured a better job of playing in the band and working in the print shop. Here he began his high school course in crime.

TELLS OF EASY MONEY. "Stubby the Dip" showed the Kid how little he knew about lifting a poke or reefing a brich. Stubby had short, fat fingers, but he was exceedingly deft. He spoke in measured tones of the money that was to be secured by "wiring" rich men and declared that the moll buster and shop lifter were pikers by comparison.

After working hours Stubby and the Kid spent hours picking each other's pockets. The Kid made up his mind that if he should get out he would desert "prowling" and "moll busing" and work as a first parment today, Major Rowan was awarded a silver star, citation for gallantry in action on Hudson Mountain, Philippine Islands, during the Philippine Insurrection in 1900. Major Rowan placed and operated a field gun on the mountain under hazardous conditions.

Major Rowan has been retired from the army for several years. Several weeks ago Major Rowan was the guest of honor at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Oakland, at which time he recounted the adventure which today was recognized by the War Department.

class wire. He found out that you can "reef a kick," that is draw up the lining of a front pocket with honest fingers, but that you must use the scissors or fork on a rear or inside pocket. He practiced "un-sloping" the vest so that he might take money from an inside pocket.

TAUGHT BY BURGLAR. From "Buzzy," a burglar, the Kid took a postgraduate course in prowling, in copying a sneak and in doing second story work.

At the end of 18 months the Kid was paroled and he went back to Los Angeles firmly convinced that he could beat the game. He had learned a little of good at Lone, although he had attended classes as required and had read omnivorously.

However, the Kid's brother talked with him long and seriously and at last K. C. decided to turn his back on the game. He went to his brother in the package delivery game.

A new element now entered the boy's life. Women began to hold a strange attraction for him. He had learned to play a horn and worked nights on a dance hall orchestra. Here he met the dance hall beauties, show girls and others of the sporting fraternity. He spent money liberally on his newly discovered source of pleasure. In a short time he bankrupted the package delivery business.

BACK TO POCKET PICKING. In his 19th years the Kid was back picking pockets for a living. About this time he met Single O. K. Kid and worked with him as a stall for a time. The Single O was so-called because he generally worked alone, but he made an exception in this case for the K. C. Kid.

The Single O taught the Kid how to "stick up" a sucker on the car steps. That was his favorite stunt, to catch a man just as he was getting on a street car. The Kid in front stood directly in the path of the sucker, preventing him from getting onto the car while the Single O picked his pocket.

The Kid perfected himself also in the art of "splitting out" his pal when he got in trouble. The Single O before he went on a job always took a sniff or two of white powder. He recommended the use of this powder to the Kid, but the Kansas Kid did not fall for it.

NEARLY ALL USED DOPE. He didn't need any artificial courage either in powder or liquid form. He had seen too many of the victims of both stimulants. Most of the dips of his acquaintance were "on the staff," using either cocaine, morphine, heroin or opium in one way or another.

On account of his lone record the K. C. Kid was knocked over quite often by the Los Angeles police, but each time he managed to escape prosecution. He always "ditched the leather" after a job, retaining only money which could not be identified.

While working with Single O the Kid had made out a set of signals. When the Single O spotted a victim he winked at the Kid, who approached close.

The signal to "come through" was a clucking of the tongue at the roof of the mouth. At this "office" the Kid walked up rapidly and collided with the victim, while Single O picked his pockets.

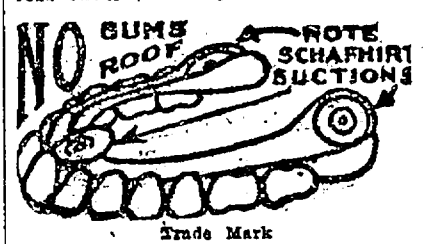

A short time after this Buzzy showed up in Los Angeles and the Kid decided to try "prowling" for a time. By this time he had become as well known to the police

Inventor of Roofless Plate

The advantages of roofless plates are: improved speech and taste; cool to the mouth; has several suction instead of one. It makes no difference if you have any teeth of your own or not.

My work cannot be had elsewhere. It has taken 8 years to perfect it.

Established in Oakland 12 years. Only one well regulated office with personal attention. Beware of cheap imitations. I make nothing less than $20.00 plates.

Your Druggist

Does not keep Pinkham's Compound. He sells it.

During the year 1920, nearly 3,000,000 bottles of this medicine were shipped from the factory at Lynn, Massachusetts. The factory is in Canada and one in Mexico.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the largest sale of any medicine for women's ailments. Every day, more and more women are proving its worth. Made of selected roots and herbs, this compound contains no harmful drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman.—Advertisement.

Plans Model City

MRS. MARY EMERY, philanthropist, and widow of Thomas E. Emery, who will construct "Marion" near Cincinnati, O., a new city to be given birth by the widow in memory of her husband. The fulfillment of the dream of a man who had tired of accumulating dollars and sought only to share in the cause of human helplessness will be realized this summer. The proposed city will be built to accommodate 5000 people, with churches, schools, city buildings and a theater.—Underwood & Underwood photo.

Her Her Shoes and "The Elf Child," will be produced by juvenile groups from Campbell and Fruitvale school grounds. The public is invited to witness the entertainment which is under the general direction of the recreation department.

Recreation Needs Of Boys, Girls Told

Stressing the need for recreation facilities for the adolescent boy and girl, Jay B. Nash, head of the recreation department, delivered an address at the Mutual Business club's luncheon at the Hotel Oakland today on "Playground Activities."

According to Nash, playground activities for children have now been firmly established and are considered a standard phase of community activities, and it is incumbent on the community to provide some sort of standard recreation for the adolescent boy and girl.

"These larger phases of recreation activities must be made cost covering," said Nash, "a small

Ban on Aliens to Be Withdrawn

HONGKONG, July 21. (By the Associated Press.)—Former enemy aliens will be admitted to the British crown colony of Hongkong with the expiration of the effectiveness of the anti-foreign ordinance next month, the chairman of the Chamber of Commerce has learned from government sources. The ordinance will not be renewed, he was informed.

charge being placed on them to cover the overhead. In other words, we should provide recreation activities at wholesale. For us this means mountain camps, golf courses and similar recreations. We have a good start. Let us continue."

THIRTY MINUTE TALES

by Old Schuster

A BENCH IN THE PARK

Ernest Phillips walked through Gramercy Park each evening on his way from work and wondered what manner of people lived in the forbidding houses. One row he thought of as fine old ladies in gray dresses, aristocrats of heart and soul who had no need of kaudy raiment to proclaim their position. Inside were old lace and silver, stiff butlers and stiffer manners.

The steel gratings, the locked fence around the park, shut the world out of homes and play spot as effectively as if the place, instead of being in the heart of the city, had retired to New England. Sometimes the young man resented the hauteur of the square, often he enjoyed a feeling of breathing an atmosphere of the past.

Late one night Ernest found the gate to Gramercy Park, around which the square was built, unlocked and marveled at the carelessness which would allow an outsider to wander in precincts so sacred. He slipped inside, sat on a bench and gave himself to the spirit and feeling of the place he loved.

Walking noiselessly a middle-aged man approached the bench, apologized and sat down. Abruptly he began to talk.

"You think we are all lucky, we who live in the park?" he questioned as if reading the young man's mind. "I am a doctor, a physician with a large practice, and wealthy. My family live in the country, at summering places and abroad. Gramercy Park made me rich and famous—and now I must stay here with my practice that my wife and daughter may have what they wish." He looked at Ernest sorrowfully. "I am envious and I am lonely."

Ernest, embarrassed, was about to speak when the attention of both was drawn to a young woman who hastened up to the bench and, surprisingly the young man thought, sat down. "I do all my own washing," she announced in a monotonous tone. "I skip on my meals and I have little for entertainment, but," and she looked at the stars, "I live in Gramercy Park!" The physician was gone. In his place was a dapper little man in a plush coat and Tam o'Shanter.

"If I didn't live here," he said, "I could not sell my pictures. And yet all of the money I make goes to keep up my studio and to live up to it. I wonder if it is worth it!"

This was a bewildering night.

Ernest, who was bred to loneliness, realized vaguely that he should be surprised at the confessions and revelations crowded upon him. He should say something, he thought—they seemed to expect something.

"From the hills and the thundering rivers of Oregon," another man was speaking. "I came to be a writer in New York. I was received as one who has something to say, as a strong man from the mountains, and I stayed. Now I write flip essays for smart magazines and have a reputation for being clever. It is this reputation that holds me here, where I am a figure at dinner parties, and all the time I think of the big things I could have written. Boy, the city has taken my dreams and my youth—and this is a joke, it has turned out what it calls a man of the world."

Ernest held out his hand in sympathy and was not astonished when he found it rested on the arm of an elderly woman who wept while she told her story. "We Traverses have always lived here, for generations. It was yesterday I had to sell and an apartment house is to flaunt its high magnificence where the Traverses home has stood. We will move out and no one will ever hear of us again." The old woman bowed her head and continued weeping. She was the only one of the company who wept while Ernest roused himself from a curiously persistent indifference.

"Here you!" someone said. "Don't you know this ain't no loafing place? This here is Gramercy Place and you clear out."

Ernest Phillips looked sleepily at a policeman and, smiling sheepishly, handed him a cigar. "All the same," he thought as he walked out of the square, "I wonder what sort of people live in these houses."

PAPERS ARE FILED BY WELLS DRURY

Wells Drury filed his nomination papers yesterday, placing him in the field for the office of County Treasurer of Alameda county.

Drury said: "In entering the campaign for this important office, which action has been taken by me upon the request of many prominent men and women in different parts of the county, my sole ambition, if successful, will be to give the people of Alameda county a genuinely businesslike administration."

"I favored by the electors of the county my determination is to carry on the county's business on strictly business principles, unhampered by prejudice, preference or personal bias."

"This office deserves to be operated for the benefit of all the taxpayers of all the county, and such will be my purpose if elected."

Among those who have joined the Wells-Drury-for-Treasurer organization are S. C. Irving, Frank D. Stringham, Bernard R. Maybeck, Martin G. Madison, Elmer Carlisle, Grace Cornish, John P. Lutheran Young People End Meet

OMAHA, Neb., July 21.—Following six days of day and evening sessions, the thirtieth convention of the International Lutheran League composed of more than 800 young people's societies of the Lutheran church in the United States and Canada, came to an end here yesterday. More than 400 delegates from the east left for their homes yesterday after having accepted an invitation from Detroit to hold the 1923 convention in that city.

Indianapolis and St. Francisco were bidders for the 1924 and 1925 conventions, but no action was taken on their invitations.

The River Nile's part in the early history of mankind is told in the second chapter of Hendrik van Loon's "The Story of Mankind," in Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

ECZEMA ON HAND IN BLISTERS

Cuticura Healed.

"Eczema broke out on the palm of my hand in blisters. Later the blisters broke and were so sore that I could not open my hand. It burned and was so painful that I could not put my hand in water. I could not keep it soaped for over a month. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I could see an improvement so purchased more, and when I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Clara Axe, Myrtle Point, Ore.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are ideal for every-day toilet uses. Sample each free by mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 11, Malden 45, Mass." Sold everywhere. Soap, Ointment and Talcum. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulstified cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulstified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulstified cocoon oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulstified.—Advertisement.

PREMIER SEES FINAL PEACE

STOCKHOLM, July 21.—Premier Branting of Sweden believes that a permanent peace has settled over northern Europe, that is, Scandinavia, and that bolshevism will never make any inroads in this part of the world.

These thoughts appear in an interview in The Nation. In answer to the question whether bolshevism could successfully invade Scandinavia, Branting said: "Certainly not, for, according to my opinion, the bolsheviks have already seen their best days, and bolshevism may definitely be said to be on the decline."

Asked whether he believed in lasting peace in the north, the premier said: "I have reason to believe so. We have no cause here for military adventures."

The premier doubted that the nationalist movement in the Scandinavian countries would ever give rise to an armed conflict.

CROWN ARMY SHIRTS

are dressy enough for all outdoor occasions

Wear a CROWN ARMY SHIRT—not just a rough shirt—when playing golf, hiking or going on outing trips.

CROWN ARMY SHIRTS are made of fine quality, genuine U. S. Army-serge flannel, and are cut on dressy, roomy lines, in two popular styles. Together with the quality of the material, the high grade workmanship throughout on these shirts gives them that unmistakable look of "class" which makes them suitable for all kinds of sport and outdoor wear.

Ask to see a CROWN ARMY SHIRT at any of the better dealers in men's furnishings. Look for the crown trade-mark on the neckband. Women also find them a fine garment for outdoor wear.

The price is—$5.

HAPSBURG CROWN STOLEN IN VIENNA CONSUL'S OFFICE

Historic Jewels Are Removed From Consulate; Placed There for Safe Keeping.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The diamond and ruby studded crown of the Hapsburgs, former rulers of Austria-Hungary, has been stolen from the Spanish consulate in Vienna, where it was placed for safe-keeping after the revolution began, it was made known yesterday.

Count de Korwin Sokolowski, Austrian aviator, who carried the diadem from a convent to the consulate during the first days of the revolution, has been summoned to Paris. He sailed last Saturday on La Savola to join in a hunt for the jewels in Vienna, Barcelona, Paris and possibly Moscow.

Baron Radowita, a German nobleman, who spent several days last May with the former German Kaiser in Doorn and is a close friend of Sokolowski, has admitted the crown has been stolen.

Sokolowski was a noted Austrian flier during the war. When the Hapsburg house, to which he is related, fell, he took several members of the royal family out of Vienna by airplane. The Arch Duchess Blanca of Austria, a princess of Bourbon, now living in Paris incognito, then told the count that the imperial crown was hidden in a convent near Vienna and delegated him to get it safely away.

The count visited the convent, claimed the crown and flew with it to the consulate. There he obtained a receipt in the name of a friend, fearing efforts of revolutionists to locate the diadem. The receipt was sent to the friend with careful instructions not to claim the crown until he had received orders, and Sokolowski went to London.

Two months ago German and Austrian royalists were notified by underground that the receipt had been presented to the consulate and the crown removed. But the receipt was not presented by Sokolowski's friend, and he has no recollection of its disappearance. It is believed it was either lost or stolen in Paris. According to Baron Radowitz the crown is not of great intrinsic value, but historically it is priceless. Archduchess Blanca decided to make public news of the theft so that collectors would be warned against purchasing it.

"Save it with Ice"

Women who have studied domestic economy will tell you that a regular supply of ice in the home is not merely a convenience and a safeguard to health, but also a real economy.

Ice in your home prevents the spoiling of expensive foods, and that keeps your food bills down.

Instead of buying or making rich, expensive desserts, serve a variety of healthful, delicious iced dishes—they not only taste better, but are much better for you in hot weather.

In a well-iced refrigerator your food is not only kept evenly cold; it is protected from the dust and bacteria in the air. Protect your health by keeping your ice-box always filled.

PIRATES EVADE COAST GUARDS FOLLOWING RAID

Motor Boat Sea Brigands Rob Alleged Rum Runner; Kill Captain.

MIAMI, Fla., July 21. (By International News Service).—Coast guards were searching today for motorboat pirates, who, late yesterday, held up the converted auxiliary schooner William H. Albury, shot her master, Captain Edgar Combe, and then fled. The motorboat containing the pirates was said to have borne the name Falcon.

The Albury, according to harbor authorities, has been engaged in running liquor between Florida keys and the British Bahamas.

The holdup was said to have taken place off Gunkey, near this port.

Girl, Mother Elope; Mix Up Relationship

While 15-year-old Norma Baldwin of Dos Palos was speeding along the State highway to Oakland with Linus G. Roe, in a romantic elopement from her mother, Mrs. Edyth M. Baldwin, the latter was speeding along the same highway a few miles in the rear with Roe's younger brother, with whom she was "eloping" from her daughter.

Neither knew of the plan of the other until the mother found her daughter's name in the marriage license book, on the certificate preceding her own.

Miss Baldwin was married by Police Judge Mortimer Smith in his courtroom at the city hall. Mrs. Baldwin was married several hours later by an Alameda minister.

According to the marriage license records the daughter is 13 and her husband 27, while the mother is 26 and Ora I. Roe, her husband, is 26.

As a result of the double wedding the mother and daughter are now sisters-in-law, while the younger of the two brothers is now his older brother's step-father.

All four live in Dos Palos, Merced county, where the brothers operate the Roe Brothers' garage.

Both mother and daughter conducted the plans for their respective elopements so secretly that neither guessed the intentions of the other. The brothers also succeeded in keeping their secrets from an older brother. After the two honeymoons are ended, the family party will go back to Dos Palos to live.

FEAR FOUL PLAY TO MISSING MAN

Belief that Fred Cox of Stockton, who left there on July 7 to make a trip to San Francisco and this city, has met with foul play was expressed today by relatives whom he was to have visited in Oakland.

Cox carried a large sum of money and some valuable jewelry and it is feared that he may have fallen victim to bandits.

His disappearance has been reported to the police of this city and of San Francisco, who, to date, have been unable to locate any clew as to the missing man.

According to Milton F. Angie, 332 Fourteenth street, Cox's nephew, who he was to visit here, the man left Stockton July 7. He was to spend a few days in San Francisco with Mrs. E. Goodwin, another relative, and then come to this city. After he failed to appear a letter was written to his home in Stockton and a reply was received to the effect that his family had received a postcard from San Francisco, dated July 9, and saying that he had arrived on schedule.

According to relatives here he carried a large sum of money and wore a valuable diamond and emerald ring.

Cox is 59 years old. He is about

5 feet 4 inches in height, weighs about 160 pounds, wore a dark suit and is a cripple.

Buying goldbricks is by no means a daily pastime on the part of national executives, but one American President bit once. He was trimmed to the extent of $10,000, and the manner thereof is told by George C. Henderson in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

Buying goldbricks is by no means a daily pastime on the part of national executives, but one American President bit once. He was trimmed to the extent of $10,000, and the manner thereof is told by George C. Henderson in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

According to the police of this city and of San Francisco, who, to date, have been unable to locate any clew as to the missing man.

According to Milton F. Angie, 332 Fourteenth street, Cox's nephew, who he was to visit here, the man left Stockton July 7. He was to spend a few days in San Francisco with Mrs. E. Goodwin, another relative, and then come to this city. After he failed to appear a letter was written to his home in Stockton and a reply was received to the effect that his family had received a postcard from San Francisco, dated July 9, and saying that he had arrived on schedule.

According to relatives here he carried a large sum of money and wore a valuable diamond and emerald ring.

Cox is 59 years old. He is about

Growth Is Shown In Veterans' Report
YAKIMA, Wash., July 21.—William Downey of Seattle and Henry Leach of Yakima today appeared the most probable candidates for commander during the coming year of the Washington-Alaska department of the United States War Veterans. Officers' reports show the department organization to be in splendid shape, with more members than ever before in its history.

FREAK POULTRY WILL BE SEEN AT EDEN SHOW

Fantail Peafowl and Champion Homing Pigeons Will Be on Exhibition.

HAYWARD, July 21.—Attractions of unusual interest will be featured at the fourth annual Eden township farm products show that opens on August 9 at Hayward and runs for four days and five nights. Among the chief freaks on exhibition outside of the regular joy zone will be Peter II, a beautiful fantail peafowl entered by Donald Harder, Jr., of Berkeley, the only member of the regular joy zone in California, entered by Allan G. Curry of Castro valley; champion homing pigeons from all parts of the West; rabbits with fur like silver fox, and Jo Jo, the singing parrot.

Visitors who would rather ride than walk from the street car to the show grounds will have an opportunity to ride in case by taking passage on large hay wagons drawn by four charging plow horses. This innovation will be one of the many comforts arranged by the committee.

Great rivalry has sprung up between various farm centers over the Queen contest. Miss Hudson, candidate from Castro valley, is family in that section attend the show, which means the little valley will send at least 4000 persons to the Eden show.

The parade arrangements are progressing nicely, all the merchants taking an interest in preparing floats, chariots and automobiles. The queen's float is being designed under the direction of Joseph Vieri, the artist who designed last year's float. Vieri will co-operate with Fred E. Bragg and Mrs. Carol Kelly in looking out for the queen.

On Saturday night, August 5, the official ball in honor of the queen will be held in the National Sons hall with the members of Hayward Post No. 68 in charge of the affair. Hundreds of out-of-town guests are expected for the night of the ball. The queen, whoever the lucky woman may be, will lead the parade march with Martin J. Madison, president of the show, followed by the maids of honor and the vice-presidents of the farm show. John F. Pedersen, Fred E. Bragg and his special military orchestra will furnish the music. Committees handling the official queen's ball include Captain Daniel W. Bragg, Lieutenant H. Bradford, Sergeant Stanton R. Soares, Corporal Hugo Frank and Trumpeter Charles F. Sorenson.

John Pershing Flynn, the personal harbor of General Pershing during the late party with the Germans, has been designated as special aide to the queen during show week. The naval aide has not been selected as yet.

Senator Johnson To Arrive July 27

U. S. Senator Hiram Johnson will visit Oakland on Thursday, July 27, it was announced today. A reception will be given him at that time at the Hotel Oakland. It will last from 2:30 until 4:30 p. m. All citizens are invited to meet him personally.

From here Senator Johnson will proceed south.

PYTHIANS FRAME CONCLAVE PLANS

The program of the supreme lodge convention of the Knights of Pythias, which is to meet in San Francisco Tuesday, August 8, at the St. Francis hotel, was announced yesterday by Superior Judge George Samuel, of Oakland, chairman of the California Pythian grand lodge committee.

The supreme chief of the national fraternity will open the exercises. Addresses of welcome will be made by Governor William D. Stephens and Mayor James Rolph. The response will be made by the supreme chief of the national organization. The program for the week will include business sessions, various social activities, special features are to be: Tea at the Cliff House; a concert, public reception and ball at the Fairmont hotel, eight evening banquets at the Hotel St. Francis, boat excursions about the bay, automobile trips to surrounding cities, trips to Muir Wood and Mt. Tamalpais, a concert in Golden Gate park and a theater

ASK THE TRIBUNE Bureau Information

"Please give me a recipe for olive oil pickles," requests a reader of "The Tribune." The ten large cucumber pickles, wash, wipe and slice without paring. Cover with a weak brine and let stand 24 hours. Drain and mix mustard seed, one tablespoonful of celery seed, one cup olive oil and enough white wine vinegar to cover. Bottle and keep air tight. Requires no cooking.

What is the distance around Lake Merritt?

According to the City Park Department it is three and one-half miles around the waterline and six and one-quarter miles by path, or the regular Marathon track around the lake.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of general nature, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day.

The bureau is open every day except Sunday from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.

If you have any problems of a general nature to solve, ask THE TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

party, which will close the convention.

The afternoon of Thursday, August 10, will be basket day, with a sight seeing trip through Oakland, past Lake Merritt, along the Skyline Boulevard to the State University at Berkeley and return.

Boy Bandits Held;

Loot Recovered

With the arrest of eight boys, the youngest 10 years old and the oldest 15, the police have rounded up a gang of young burglars which have been operating in the city for the last six months.

The boys who confessed to the thefts to Police Inspectors Tom Gallagher and William Marshall, late yesterday afternoon, the two officers recovered fifty bicycles they had stolen. They told the officers that after they stole a bicycle they would make them unrecognizable. According to the officers they admitted stealing a horse and wagon and breaking into a number of stalls in the Sixth street market. A large quantity of candy and gum was found in the homes of the youths.

Clashes Mark Trial

Of Frank B. Freitas

Frequent clashes between the opposing attorneys featured the manslaughter trial of Frank B. Freitas, Hayward youth, in Judge Samuel's court today. The trial opened yesterday and will probably be concluded tomorrow, or late this evening. Judge Samuel warned Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Preston Higgins, the prosecutor, and Attorney Frank R. Carr, representing Freitas, that they must cease hostilities and "try the case, not argue it."

Freitas is accused of killing Mrs. Andrew Perry, 1202 Twenty-eighth street, when he struck her with an automobile, the accident occurring at the corner of Twelfth and Madison streets in April of this year. In the machine with him were a party of eight boys and girls who had been attending a dance.

Jugo-Slav Program

For Greek Theater

The Greek theater in Berkeley will be the scene of a unique entertainment on Friday evening, July 28, if the plans of the local Jugo Slavs are carried out in the "Jugo Slav Exhibition" scheduled for the evening.

The exercises include folk dancing in native costumes, national and folk songs of the country, selections of Jugo-Slavic music and gymnastic feats.

INVITED TO SEE DEL VALLE FARM

The county board of supervisors, the Public Health Center, the Tuberculosis Association and the County Institutions Committee, through the chambers, have accepted 500 invitations to men and women in Alameda county who have assisted in making possible Del Valle Farm for children for the Tuberculosis Association. The inspection of the 45 acres near Livermore, which has been opened as a permanent Sunshine camp for the tuberculous children under the direction of the County Tuberculosis Society, will be made between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m. The guests will also be invited to visit Arroyo Sanitarium, the county Tuberculosis hospital, a short distance away on the same road. Cars for the informal affair, which is designed to demonstrate to those interested the two important health plants have been sent out in the name of William J. Hamilton, Florence Brown and Joseph H. King.

The reception committee at Del Valle Farm will include: Miss Annie Florence Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe D. Rotary Club Hears

Anti-Rail Divorce

Reasons why the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific should not be separated were advanced at a meeting of the Rotary club in the Hotel Oakland at noon yesterday by Egan J. Foulds of the former company.

Foulds contended that the representatives of the Union Pacific company have dealt with facts in their exposition of the case and that instead of lowering transportation costs the new arrangement would be detrimental to the shippers.

He traced the history of the Southern and Central Pacific from the sixties and illustrated his remarks with a map showing the lines now operated by the two companies. His talk was the second of two. Last week the Union Pacific case was taken up at the club.

Man Spent Money;

Disappoints Robber

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Frank J. Schuster of 717 Minna street went to Oakland yesterday with $360. He invested $350 of the money in a business enterprise, spent $7 more on his way and had only $3 left when a lone robber held him up at Spear and Mission streets, shortly after midnight. He was struck over the head and had to go to the Harbor hospital for treatment. He believes that the person who assaulted him knew of his possession of the money when he started from home.

BENEFIT DANCE.

ALVARADO, July 21.—A benefit dance for the baseball team will be given at the Oda Palace hall Saturday evening. A large crowd is expected to attend the affair which has been planned on an elaborate scale. Walter's orchestra from San Francisco will furnish the music for the dancers.

KANSAS ORDERS EDITOR'S ARREST IN STRIKE CLASH

Governor's Friend Defers Court Ruling Regarding Placard Backing Men.

TOPEKA, Kas., July 21.—Governor Henry J. Allen last night authorized the arrest of William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, for alleged violation of the industrial court and anti-picketing law, which he was informed last night by friends of Governor H. J. Allen, was in preparation by Attorney-General R. J. Hopkins. It was understood that the attorney prepared the information charging lodging charges against Editor White last night.

Editor White and Governor Allen are life-long friends, both publicly and personally. White has supported the governor throughout his administration and even in the face of the impending action against him he said: "There is no personal feeling between Governor Allen and me. He is making a splendid governor."

White restated his defiance of the ruling of the court that to display signs in sympathy with the striking railroad shopmen was against the law. He said he would not take down the sign in the window of his paper, the Emporia Gazette.

The sign reads: "We are for the striking railway men fifty per cent. We are for a living wage and fair living conditions." As originally placed in the window the sign read "100 per cent." White cut the percentage to 49 per cent. Wednesday, and raised it to 50 per cent. yesterday.

Both Governor Allen and White have stated their personal friendship for each other has not been affected by the controversy. White said today:

"The right to a free utterance of honest opinions is a fundamental right. Our fathers fought for it and to restrict any man from the calm expression of an honest opinion merely because there is a strike on in Kansas is unwise. Industrial questions are not honestly settled by a suppression of free utterance."

As a matter of fact I am not for the striking railroad men 100 per cent. They have a just cause, but they have taken a foolish time for fighting for it. But so long as the right to express any opinion is regarded as incendiary, I feel an old-fashioned American duty to stand up and be counted for free utterance.

The governor said that White had the wrong "slant" in placing the strike sympathy card in the Gazette window and that he did not believe in forbidding display of the cards an attack on free speech.

TO INSTALL HEAVIER WIRES.

CENTREVILLE, July 21.—Finding that the present wires were too small to carry the current from Centerville to Niles the Pacific Electric company has started to put in a heavier line between the two places.

COAST SHIPPING CUT BY PANAMA, BOARD IS TOLD

No Transcontinental Freight for Export, L. A. Experts Advise Probers.

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—The last of a series of hearings at various ports on section 28 of the Jones bill was conducted here yesterday by a committee of United States Shipping Board members composed of Admiral S. Benson, George E. Chamberlain and Meyer Lissner.

A number of representatives of shipping interests and civic bodies gave their views on the section, which provides for preferential rates for cargoes carried in American ships to foreign ports.

F. P. Gregson, secretary of the United States Shipping Board, said that the section "might as well be suspended for the present for all the good it does the Pacific coast." He said that most of the freight which might be expected to pass through Los Angeles for transshipment across the Pacific on American ships was going down the Atlantic coast, and through the Panama canal to the Orient.

"We are not getting any transcontinental freight at Los Angeles for export," he added. "What we get originates in the local factories or in our back country."

Gregg also said "the rate war on this coast apparently has caused a great deal of shipping vessels which did not have much to lose, either way things went."

They are carrying freight for almost nothing," he added. Admiral Benson responded that only one line visiting the Pacific coast was using Shipping Board vessels, and that it was living up to regulations.

The members of the committee frankly stated there was lack of co-ordination between the work of the board and the Interstate Commerce Commission, and "nothing much could be done until the ship subsidy bill or some other effective measure was passed."

Telegraph Ave. to Be Paved, Widened

BERKELEY, July 21.—As the first step in the project of paving Telegraph avenue, the city council last night adopted specifications to build a storm sewer on the south end of Telegraph avenue, which will connect with the new sewer on Woodland street.

The proposed sewer will cost approximately $60,000, and the cost will be covered by an assessment district to include all property south of Stuart street and east of Adeline street.

Commissioner of Public Works George Schmidt stated that the plans and specifications for paving the board and widening Telegraph avenue would be ready next Friday.

The plans provide for the paving of the entire length of the street from the southerly city line to the university campus and to widen it from Dwight way to the campus. According to present plans the paving is to be paid for by property owners in the district one and one-half blocks on each side of Telegraph avenue.

FLATHEADS ASK HARDING TO BE TRIBE MEMBER

WASHINGTON, July 21.—If President Harding wants to become a member of the Flathead tribe of Indians all he has to do is to say the word. It won't even be necessary to travel out to Montana for the ceremony. An invitation from the Flatheads to join their tribe, transmitted through the Roman, Montana, community club, was communicated to the president today by Secretary Myers of Montana. During the next few days the Indians expect men and women who are attending the National Editorial association meeting at Missoula to visit their reservation. For the benefit of their visitors the Flatheads plan to stage elaborate ceremonies and war dance, and at the time to adopt the president. He was asked to telegraph his acceptance.

WOMEN FACE 12 HOURS OF TALK

Oakland Center, California Civic League of Women Voters, has been thrown into a quandary. Tradition makes imperative that Traditions to all elections candidates shall be presented to the membership to state their platforms. The leaders were confused today when they learned that five men and women had filed for places on the August primary ballot.

The Municipal Opera House has been engaged by the Civic Center for the afternoon of Friday, August 4, and Tuesday, August 15, to carry out the precedent. Committees had agreed that each speaker should be allowed ten minutes in which to set forth his qualifications for office.

Mathematicians today figured that seventy-five candidates speaking ten minutes each would require 750 minutes or 12½ hours. In addition, allowance must be made for discussion of several municipal questions, including the purchase by bonds of the Mountain Park and sequoia area.

DECOTO TALKS ON CRIME.

"Crime: Its Causes and Influence Upon People," was the topic upon which District Attorney Ezra Decoto spoke today before the Optimists' Club at its weekly luncheon at the Hotel Oakland. Musical selections were presented by Mrs. Anna Cunningham.

HELPER RESCUES FARMER KNOCKED DOWN BY BULL

Hired Man Attacks Mad-dened Beast With Pitchfork; Saves Employer.

MANTECA, July 21.—Attacked by an infuriated bull, hurled through a fence and rescued from death by a farm hand was the experience of George Kreider, rancher living near this place, who now lies at his home in a dangerous condition, suffering from internal injuries and possible fracture of the skull.

He entered the pen occupied by the bull and grasped the chain attached to a ring in its nose to lead it out. The moment the chain slackened the animal charged, knocking him down. As he arose, the bull plunged at him through the stomach and hurled him through the fence. As his senses left him, he says, he remembered the mad-dened brute standing over him ready to charge again.

At this instant Fred Wagner, an employee, reached the scene, and although he has but one leg, the other being artificial, he did not hesitate, but plunged at the bull with a pitchfork and drove it back. Then, fork in hand, he entered the pen, drove the brute into a corner, caught up the chain and snubbed it to a post. He then carried the conscious man to the farm house and telephoned for a physician. Kreider did not regain his senses until many hours later.

Divorce and $250 Alimony Is Asked

Suit for separate maintenance was filed in the superior court today by Mrs. Belle Haskell against her husband, Blanchard L. Haskell, 2141 Twenty-fourth avenue. Haskell is accused of cohabiting with other women, and his wife alleges that he told her he "would not quit going with other women."

Mrs. Haskell alleges her husband possesses an estate valued at $70,000, and has an income of $250 per month, without working. The custody of a minor son, William Haskell, age three years, the use of their home on Twenty-fourth avenue, and $250 per month separate maintenance.

My Favorite Stories by

IRVIN S. COBB

Taking in a Partner.

A mountaineering gentleman had come down into the lowlands of northern Alabama on court business. On his way down out of the hills, as was plain to see, he had looked upon his native moonshine when it was white. Now he was seeking trouble and he didn't care how soon he found it either.

In a gait that was a happy compromise between a swagger and a stagger he projected himself into a grocery. The place was fairly well filled. Lurching up to the bar, he slammed his fist down upon it and in a loud voice introduced himself to the assembled company after this fashion:

"I'm a tall sycamore from the mounting. I measure thirty feet to the first limb and I'm hard to climb. I'm free from cat-faces, shakes, knots or woodpecker holes. I don't bend before the roarin' storm, and I ain't never been afraid of the jagged lightnin'. Hear me and tremble! I can lick any six men in this county!"

There was a sudden flurry, a thud of opposing bodies coming into violent collision, the sound of a blow and then the sound of a fall. When the dust cleared away, the tall sycamore of the mountains was flat upon the barroom floor with the local champion seated astride him.

"Do you still think you can lick any six men in this county?" inquired the champion softly.

"Well, you and me both can lick any six men in this county," stated the fallen monarch of the forest.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WIRE FENCE.

UNCLE WIGGILY was sitting on the hollow stump bungalow porch one day when, all of a sudden, over in the green, grassy fields not far away he heard a great shouting.

"Run! Run!" chattered a voice. "Run fast and he can't get you!"

"But I can't run any faster!" cried a second voice.

"Dear me!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself, as his pink nose began to twinkle very fast.

Which it always did when he was excited. "This sounds like trouble. I wonder if I can help?"

Perhaps the Woozle Wolf or the Bushy Bear is chasing one of my little animal friends. I must hop down and see.

Down off the porch hurried the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Where are you going?" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Hush! Don't make a noise!" whispered the bunny to his muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Some of my friends are in trouble and I'm going to help them."

Over toward the field hopped the bunny. He could hear the voices more plainly now, and one of them cried:

"Oh, I can't get away! There's a fence right in front of me! A strong wire fence, and I can't break it down!"

"Well, crawl under or hop over," said the second voice.

"We've just got to get away! Hurry!"

"This is getting more and more like trouble!" thought the bunny, and his pink nose twinkled so fast that he felt like sneezing.

"Who are you and what's the matter?" called the rabbit uncle.

And just then over the wire fence came sailing Johnny Bushytail, the boy squirrel. He bounded in a little ball up to Uncle Wiggily.

"And then, a moment later, Billie Bushytail, the other squirrel boy, came scrambling under the wire fence.

"What's the matter? What's the matter?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Is the Fuzzy Fox after you?"

"Oh, no!" laughed Billie. "We're just playing a game with Sammie Littletail and Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow. They're trying to catch us, and we're running away."

"Only I didn't think I could get away when I saw this fence," chattered Johnny, as he looked at the one over which he had jumped.

"Oh, so it's only a game. I don't have to save anybody from trouble!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, just a little disappointed.

"Ha! Ha! But you squirrel boys surely know how to get under and over the fence."

"I'm glad it wasn't one of those wire fences with sharp stickers on," spoke Billie. "I mean a barbed wire fence. They're hard to get under or over."

"Indeed they are," said Uncle Wiggily. "I remember once when I was a young rabbit when I was out with my father and we came to a fence and on the other side was—"

"Excuse me!" politely interrupted Billie. "I have a parrot and I will have to scamper on now. I hear Jackie, Peetie and Sammie coming."

Away ran the squirrel boys, so they wouldn't be caught in the game they were playing with the rabbit and the puppy dogs.

"I must tell them, some later day, what was on the other side of the fence," thought Uncle Wiggily.

He tried to scramble under the fence.

gily. "And, as long as I am here, I will walk along and perhaps have an adventure."

The bunny gentleman waited until Sammie, Jackie and Peetie came running along, looking for the squirrels, and then the bunny hopped off by himself. Of course, he didn't tell which way Johnny and Billie went, for that would not have been fair.

Uncle Wiggily was soon roaming over the fields, nibbling the sweet clover here and there, when, all of a sudden, he heard a sort of barking noise in the bushes. At first he thought it might be Jackie or Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dogs, looking for the squirrels. But, a moment later, Uncle Wiggily saw the Fuzzy Fox.

"Now, I'll nibble your ears!" howled the Fox.

"Not if I can run away from you!" answered the bunny gentleman. Away he hopped, as fast as the wind blows, but on came the Fox. Quicker and quicker leaped the bunny, but the Fox was close after him. Uncle Wiggily saw, just ahead of him, a wire fence.

"I can jump over that!" thought the bunny, "but perhaps the Fox can't and I'll be safe."

Reaching the wire fence, Uncle Wiggily gave a bound and over he went. But the Fox jumped over also and came on, crying:

"I'll get your ears!"

Soon Uncle Wiggily saw before him another fence.

"This one is too high to jump over, I must try to crawl under," said the bunny. And when he came closer he saw that the fence was one of the barbed wire kind with sharp stickers.

"Oh, I hope that I can crawl under this!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "I can if I dig a hole."

Quickly with his feet he dug a hole under the fence and crawled beneath it without any of the sharp stickers catching in his fur.

"Ph! You can't get away so easily!" howled the Fox. "I can crawl under a fence myself!"

But the Fox forgot to dig a hole. He tried to scramble under the fence, only he was so fat that he couldn't. The sharp wire stickers caught in his fur and in his tail, and held him fast there.

"Wow! Wow!" howled the Fox, and the more he tried to get loose the worse he was pricked and the tighter he was held fast.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he ran on to his bungalow. "It is a good thing to know how to crawl under fences as well as to leap over."

ODD FACTS

Probably the oldest living thing in the world is the cedar of Lebanon, or the giant sequoia of California, a cypress tree recently discovered by a naturalist in the churchyard of a small town in Mexico. The diameter of its trunk is 40 feet, 14 feet more than that of the largest known cypress. Judging from a similar cypress, which was found when cut down to have 200 years' rings for every foot of growth, this big cypress must be 5000 years old. It is still flourishing, although it was well grown when the pyramids were being built.

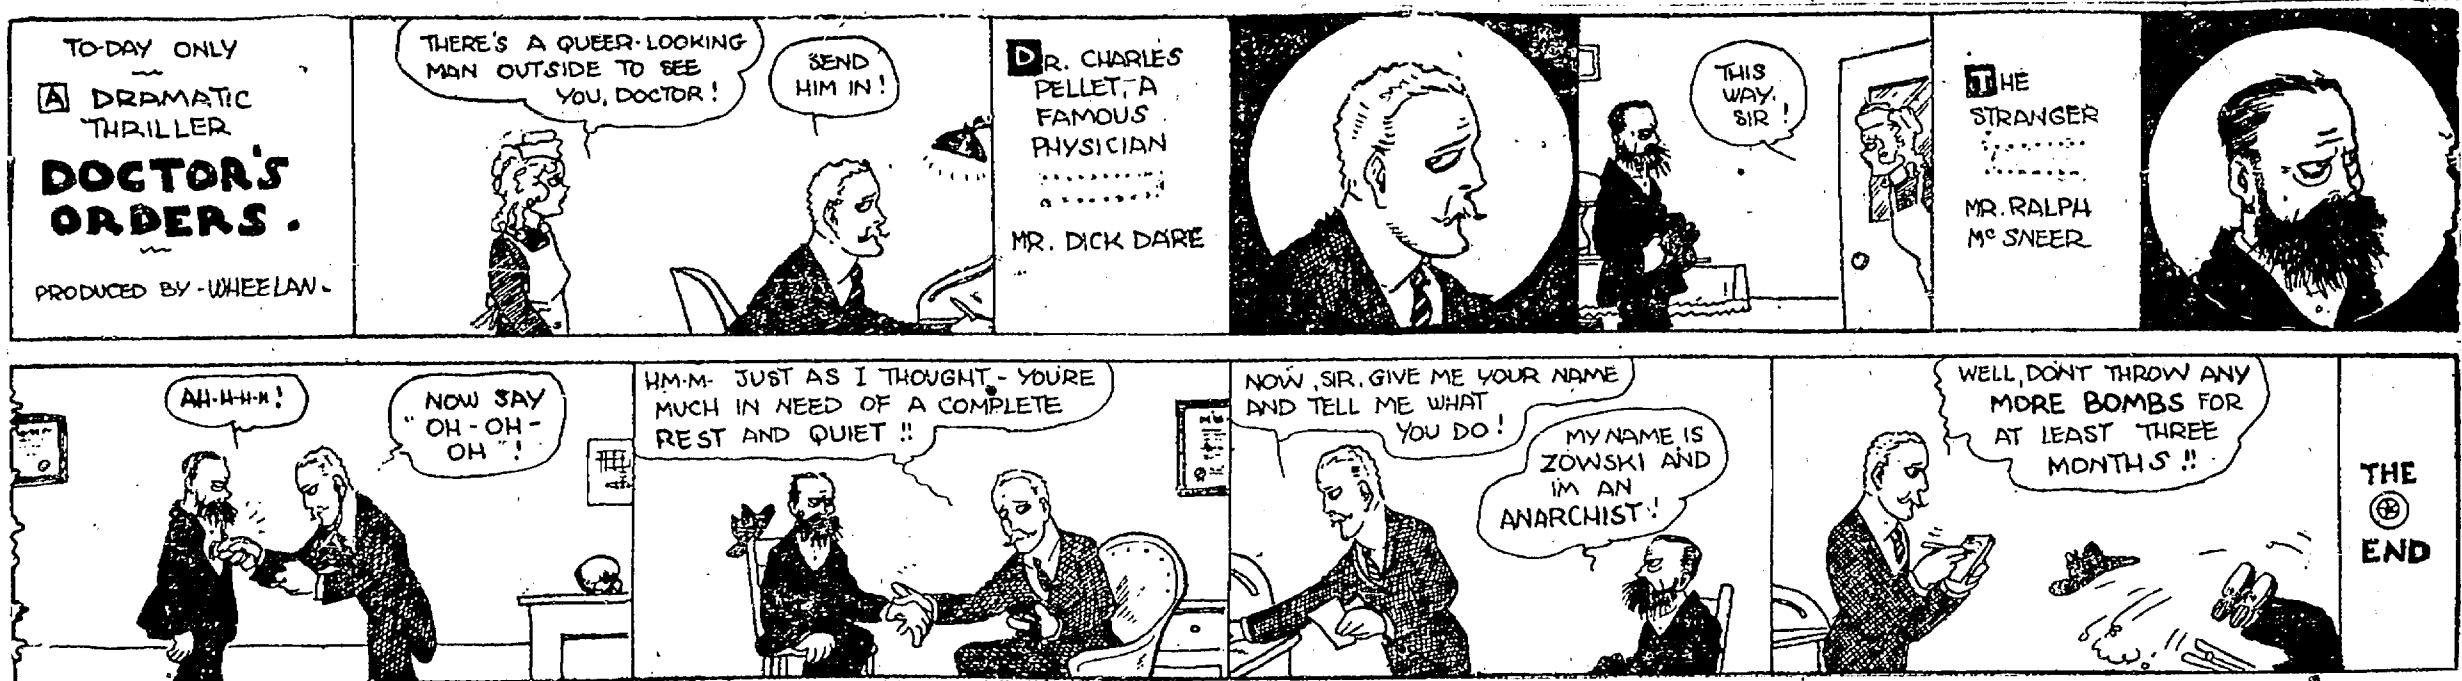

Dolls have been dated as far back as 4000 years ago. The doll was an important individual in the life of the Egyptian child, was varied and amusing, and was mummified.

U. C. LECTURER- TALKS TASTE TO FURNITURE MEN

Portlander Boosts San Francisco as Market; Banquet Is Arranged.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—To-day is the eighth day of the Furniture Market week and semi-annual convention of the furniture men, and it was featured by an address by Bernard C. Jackway, extension lecturer at the University of California. His subject, "Coasting Good Taste Into Money," "Store Day," was observed yesterday. J. O. Smith of Los Angeles gave an address at a luncheon meeting at the Palace hotel, dwelling upon the importance of selecting a good stove in furnishing a home.

"In the establishing of any new home the purchase of the stove is the first consideration," said Smith. "Proper care in the selection of a stove that will give complete satisfaction will establish a reputation for service that will bring future trade."

H. A. Green, Portland manufacturer, also spoke yesterday. He said in part:

"We have been holding market weeks in Portland and calling our city the Grand Rapids of the West. The creation of the new market building and its splendid facilities has brought about a change. I believe we should all boost this market and thus do away with the other markets. I have found San Francisco's market week exceptionally good. I am convinced more than ever that this is to be the furniture market-center of the West."

M. Fitz led the discussion at the round table yesterday afternoon. "Using the Malls to Get Business" was his subject.

B. C. Jackway spoke last night on "Building the Prestige That Builds Business."

The furniture men will hold their semi-annual feature banquet at the Palace hotel. "Retail Dealers' Day" will be observed tomorrow.

$10,000 LOSS IN OIL WORKS FIRE

BERKELEY, July 21.—Damage estimated at $10,000 was done last night to the El Dorado Oil Works, Third street and University avenue, by a blaze which started shortly after 11 o'clock. The fire broke out in the drying room of the plant and spread to the warehouse where a large quantity of coconut meal was stored.

H. P. Wilson, employee of the plant, discovered the blaze, turned in the alarm and, summoning another worker, fought the flames with fire-fighting equipment at the plant until he was driven from the building by dense smoke. Four alarms were turned in and practically every piece of fire apparatus in the city was sent to the blaze.

This is the fourth fire at the oil plant in several years.

Professor to Speak On 'France of Today'

BERKELEY, July 21.—"France of Today" will be the subject of a special lecture at 8 o'clock Monday evening in Room 11, Wheeler hall, by Dr. Charles Castro, professor of American civilization and literature at the University of California. The lecture will be in English and will touch upon political and economic problems confronting the French republic today. Professor Charles Mills Gayley will introduce the speaker.

Funeral Tomorrow For Mrs. Reimers

ALAMEDA, July 21.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Mrs. Adolph Reimers, former Livermore resident, who died at her home, 807 Santa Clara avenue, yesterday.

Mrs. Reimers, who was well known throughout Livermore valley, came to Alameda to reside about a year ago. She was a native of Germany and aged 79 years. She was the mother of Adeline B. Jacobs, John C. Reimers and Lilian Krueger.

TEA PARTY FOR OUT- OF-TOWN GUEST

"Oh, I am glad you stopped in, Mrs. Jay. I had a letter from my sister today who lives up in the Sacramento valley, and she tells me she has decided to accept our invitation to come here for the rest of the summer with her little girl. I am so glad to hear the news. She will be here next Monday."

"Isn't that nice. I have heard so much about her. I am anxious to meet your sister. It is terribly hot up there. I guess people who live there are glad to spend the summer around the bay. They say it is over a hundred most every day and usually gets up to 105. That's too hot for me."

"I think the same thing. I think I will invite ten or fifteen ladies to tea about next Thursday to meet sister and I want to invite you first of all."

"Oh, my dear, I should love to come. But you know how badly I need new clothes. I haven't any decent dress-up things and keep putting off buying as I feel that I must spend so much money at once that I hate to think of it."

"Now, listen; you have gone without new things long enough. You just buy yourself a lovely new dress and wear it to my tea the first time. Go to Cherry's, at 515 13th street, and buy on credit. One new dress, enough money for an initial payment. The other monthly payments are easily met. Cherry's store for men is at 528 13th street. —Advertisement.

SAN LEANDRO

San Leandrans Will Attend Board Meet

SAN LEANDRO, July 21.—Preparations for a delegation of San Leandrans to appear at the next meeting of the Oakland board of education, to be held Monday night, during which the matter of establishing a junior high school in this city will be presented for final action, and a report on the findings made by a number of local business men and city officials.

The junior high school was promised San Leandro at a recent joint meeting of the Oakland and San Leandro boards of education, held here. Several proposed locations were presented for consideration, but no choice was made. The matter finally was referred over to the Oakland board, its decision to be announced Monday night.

Engineer to Report On Water Supply

SAN LEANDRO, July 21.—Members of the San Leandro board of trustees will meet with R. H. Goodwin, city engineer, tomorrow afternoon to hear a report on the present water conditions of the city. The meeting is the result of a request from the East Bay Water company that definite action be taken regarding the proposed installation of additional water facilities, whereby fire protection will be increased. Goodwin will confer with officials of the company later.

"HOME-GROWN" EATS

SAN LEANDRO, July 21.—Sweet corn and watermelon, San Leandro grown, will be the bill of fare at a "feast" to be held by the members of the Native Sons of San Leandro, Tuesday night, August 1, at Masonic hall.

Deputy Sheriff Is Slain by Truckmen

TRACY, July 21.—In a gun battle today with two unidentified Mexicans, truck hands, Frank Brennan of Stockton, a special deputy sheriff, was shot five times and died a few minutes later of his wounds.

Three of the bullets lodged in his back, as the officer turned after the first two shots, to walk to the office of Dr. M. V. Turley. He walked a few steps when the Mexicans fired twice more, and he dropped. He was taken when taken to the physician's office.

Ed Sholin, a Southern Pacific Railroad guard, was the only witness to the shooting. He declared that Brennan walked over to the Mexicans to question them about the firing of a shot last night in the railroad bunkhouse.

Sholin said that, without replying, the two men drew pistols, not giving the officer a chance to draw. Thirteen shots were fired. The guard said that after the shooting the men turned and ran. He fired at them and thinks he hit one of the gunmen.

STRIKE DECLARED NOT FRUIT DANGER

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEADER WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, July 21.—Farmers and fruit growers of the San Joaquin valley and elsewhere in California are unduly fearful as to the ability of the railroads to move the fruit and other crops because of the railroad strike situation, it was declared today at the office of Governor Stephens, which has been bombarded by telegrams and letters from chambers of commerce, farmers' and civic organizations.

The fact that the apprehensions of the growers were based solely on fear was pointed out by the governor's office to be substantiated by a telegram received from W. F. Killingsworth, of the state department of agriculture, who at the direction of the governor has been making an investigation of conditions in the San Joaquin valley and at San Bernardino, through which point the bulk of the fruit from the valley passes.

Killingsworth's telegram said: "United States marshals and sheriffs have railroad strike well in hand. Superintendent Tuttle says equipment is in fine shape. Could handle much more freight than offered. Five hundred men working."

Litvinoff to Quit The Hague Sunday

THE HAGUE, July 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation, said today that he will remain here until Sunday night when he will leave for Berlin. He and Leonid Krassin, the Soviet economic expert, are busily engaged in discussing proposed concessions with various British and Dutch businessmen after the ending of The Hague conference.

Leslie Urquhart, representing various British mining interests, and Col. W. J. Boyle, representing the Shell oil interests, and other businessmen are in constant communication with Litvinoff and Krassin.

S. P. Train Held Up By Mexican Rebels

MEXICO CITY, July 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—A Southern Pacific train was attacked yesterday a few miles from Mazatlan, and the express car and a number of passengers were robbed of 20,000 pesos by more than 100 followers of Gen. Juan Carrasco, who has been in revolt against the Mexican federal government for several weeks, according to an official report received here late last night.

New Committee Pleases San Leandrans

SAN LEANDRO, July 21.—Recent appointment of a transportation committee of the California Development Association, San Francisco, notice of which was received at the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce today, will fill a long felt want, according to members of the local business men's organization.

The committee is for the purpose of answering all questions pertaining to traffic laws, rules or rates, untangling complicated phases of transportation and acting in a general advisory capacity.

Live Wire Causes Big Grass Fire

SAN LEANDRO, July 21.—Ignited by the falling of overhead high tension electric cables, a fire swept through a large lot of dry grass near the I. D. E. S. lodge headquarters, Alvarado street, late last night. Although the entire lot was one mass of flame that lighted the street for several blocks, the fire apparatus prevented the conflagration from spreading and causing any material damage.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

SAN LEANDRO, July 21.—The second band concert of the season will be held on the city plaza tomorrow night. The program of both operatic and popular selections, has been prepared by the committee in charge and Prof. John Musso, director.

ATTENDS MEETING

SAN LEANDRO, July 21.—Farley Granger, secretary of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce, attended the monthly meeting of the Bay District Conference members, held at Mt. Tamalpais today.

PISTOL BOUGHT BY SUSPECT IN HAMMER KILLING

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(United Press.)—As Mrs. Clara Phillips today began a two-months' wait for trial, both defense and State investigators were adding to the evidence which will be presented at her trial.

Discovery that Mrs. Phillips purchased a pistol two days before the murder was announced by officers, who claim this is another indication that Mrs. Phillips planned the murder of Mrs. Albert Meadows, who was later beaten to death with a hammer.

Officers had in possession the dealer's record of the pistol sale, signed with Mrs. Phillips' signature. Another matter under investigation was a charge that Mrs. Phillips was under the influence of liquor or drugs when she is alleged to have committed the brutal crime. This was regarded as a possible explanation of her apparent failure to recall anything relating to the act.

While Mrs. Phillips conferred at length with her attorneys, only unverified rumors of the defense that is planned were current, and no announcement of any kind was authorized by the defense.

The district attorney's office, however, is making elaborate preparations to combat an insanity plea, it was learned.

Dyes to Pay U. S. Rhine Policing Debt

PARIS, July 21.—The American government would receive its quota of German dyes, amounting to more than $3,000,000 annually, as part payment for maintaining its army on the Rhine, under the terms of a plan which now is being worked out by the American government with the aid of the reparations commission. All that remains to put the plan into effect is the final approval of some of the allied powers, expected in a few weeks.

Asks Police to Seek Young Wife

BERKELEY, July 20.—After waiting a week for his 17-year-old wife to return to him and their infant son, Fred Kruse, 1226 Ordway avenue, today appealed to the police to help him find her.

According to Kruse, his wife, Ruby R. Kruse, packed a suitcase with a few of her belongings on July 13, took $80 in currency with her and deserted him and their two-year-old son while Kruse was away at work.

Neighbors have told Kruse, he informed the police, that they had heard his wife say she intended to leave him. One of them knows where she has gone, he said, but refuses to tell him.

Night Registration Has Been Arranged

ALAMEDA, July 21.—Because the total registration date in Alameda is far below normal, special hours will be maintained tomorrow and July 29 in the city clerk's office during which Alamedans who are employed during the day can register.

The office, in charge of Registrar Hazel Dudgeon, will remain open tomorrow from 9 until 12, 2 to 5 and 7 until 9 o'clock.

Grass Fire Arouses Three Fire Squads

ALAMEDA, July 21.—Three companies of firemen were routed out at 1:32 this morning by a triple alarm to extinguish a small grass fire at Lincoln avenue and Union street. The blaze required the attention of only a few firemen, the others returning to their stations.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES GATHER FOR INSTITUTE

Convention Runs Two Weeks With Daily Sessions; Lectures Arranged.

BERKELEY, July 21.—As the second venture of its kind attempted in the United States, fifty public health nurses from all parts of the state will gather on the university campus next week for a "professional institute."

The institute is being held under the auspices of the state board of health and will open on Monday. The nurses who will be in attendance have been selected on the basis of their experience and the success of their work in their own communities.

The institute will run two weeks, with daily sessions in room 107, hygiene and pathology building, the morning exercises being limited to the fifty, but the afternoon open to anyone who is professionally interested in public health nursing.

During the mornings, the nurses will be divided into eight groups, each hearing lectures on different subjects. The groups are: hearing small enough to allow for personal conference. Day by day a group progresses until, in eight meetings, it has covered the entire allotted field. The group subjects are: hearing, office of the public health nursing unit; district visiting; dental clinic; well baby clinic; tuberculosis clinic; mental clinic; venereal disease clinic; skin diseases.

Monday speakers will be the following: Dr. Haven Emerson, professor of public health administration, Columbia University; Miss Mary L. Cole, director of public health nursing, Pacific division, American Red Cross; Senior Surgeon J. C. Perry, United States Public Health service; Dr. J. N. Force.

Tuesday—Dr. R. A. Peers, member of the board of health, Colfax; Miss Margaret Wales, director, social service department, Lane Hospital, San Francisco; Louis Olsen, health officer, Palo Alto; Dr. A. F. Gillman, district health officer, state board of health, Sacramento.

Petty Thieves at Work in Alameda

ALAMEDA, July 21.—Petty thieves held the attention of the Alameda police yesterday.

Dr. C. B. Harris reported that his dental office in the Citizens Bank building had been entered during the noon hour. The extent of the loss, if any, has not been determined.

The theft of 50 feet of garden hose valued at $3 was reported by Mrs. John Thomas, 1350 Regent street.

J. G. Plato, 452 Hyde street, San Francisco, reported the theft of a yellow silk purse containing $62 in cash.

Dollar Spent 27 Years Ago Returned

CHEHALIS, Wash., July 21.—Mrs. Torrence Hagerman spent a dollar in Lancaster, Mo., twenty-seven years ago.

She marked her initials on it then and religiously scrutinized every dollar that came into her possession since that time.

Her diligence was rewarded when she was handed a dollar at a Montesano (Wash.) store recently. It was the same silver money she parted with in Missouri twenty-seven years ago.

Alabama Banker Visiting in Oakland

H. H. K. Jefferson, vice president of the American Trust and Savings Bank, Birmingham, Alabama, is spending a few days in the bay district. This morning he saw Oakland as the guest of Blanks Everett, secretary, Oakland Chamber of Commerce, who originally came from Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson and their daughter are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Peter, 363 Perry street, while in Oakland.

Berkeley Woman Injured by Auto

BERKELEY, July 21.—Mrs. R. McDonald, 28, 351 Idaho street, was seriously injured last night when struck by an automobile, driven by J. P. Silva, 870 Forty-sixth street, Oakland, at San Pablo and University avenues. She was taken to the Emergency hospital, where she was found to be suffering from a possible fractured skull, severe cuts and abrasions.

150 Candidates for Office File Their Nominating Petitions in the County

With a wide field to choose from the voters are now in a position to make their selections for the offices to be filled in the city, county and State from the list of 150 candidates now on file in the county clerk's office.

Yesterday marked the last day of filing, and some 75 prospective office holders appeared during the day with their nominating petitions. Among these was P. F. Morse, former city commissioner, with his petitions for the office of public administrator. He failed to file.

Morse's eleventh-hour and fifty-ninth-minute decision not to compete against Albert E. Hill, the appointee of the board of supervisors, came as a surprise to his friends who had gathered to watch the ceremony of filing. He would make no statement on the matter.

ALL DIDN'T FILE HERE.

While there are 150 candidates who have filed their nominating petitions in this county, the list does not represent all those who intend to compete for State offices. According to the political law it is necessary to file the petitions in a certain portion of the counties.

Those who have filed their petitions in this county are:

SOME WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

Several of the candidates in the county will go to the polls without opposition. George E. Gross, county clerk; William J. Hamilton and Charles W. Meyer, supervisors; the county auditor, J. H. Taylor, and the county controller, U. S. Webb, are likewise unopposed for the office of attorney-general. Another unopposed candidate is Will C. Wood for the office of state superintendent of instruction. The two most sought after positions in the county, judging from the filing, are the offices of justice of the peace and capable superior judge. E. C. Robinson, the incumbent, is unopposed.

My Marriage's Problems

*Oldale Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations

THE WAY LILLIAN "RESCUED"

Bess Dean was a pitiful looking specimen of femininity, indeed, and with Dicky on one side and Ted—one of the Cosgrove twins—on the other, she tottered to the side of the car, and was hoisted—there is no other word describes the movement, for she could not climb, and mutely refused to be lifted—into the tonneau. Lillian and I had alighted from the car as soon as we caught sight of her, and would have hurried toward her but for Dicky's peremptory hand waving us back.

"It's her feet, of course," Lillian murmured as she watched the painful progress of the girl. "And that's Dicky-bird's right. The first thing to do is to get her off them, and we should only hinder him if we went to the rescue. And she's got to eat cookies, sugar ones, that she won't admit her feet hurt. It'll be her head or her ears, or her hands—anything but to give in that she's hurt. And she's got to take a foot into these sneakers of yours."

In spite of my very real concern at the girl's appearance—her stained eyes. "Get him, we want Latta," he hissed. "I don't want to see him exhausted—I could not help the little smile, instantly suppressed and unobserved by her, when I heard her first murmured words: 'I'm busy.'"

"I've wrenched it some way. Oh! How am I going to stand the journey home?"

"I'll drive very carefully," Robbert said. "Sarin promised, with chivalrous courtesy, that he would not hold Lillian's side and evidently accepted as truth the girl's complaint of her back. 'I think it really will be better to take the longer way round by the coast route, and it will be so much less jolting.'"

"No, no," Bess Dean expostulated agonizedly. "Take the very shortest route. Never mind the jolting. Just get her home as quickly as you can."

Lillian lowered her voice to a murmur, turning her face to me. "DON'T BE A FOOL!"

"You have seen the knife and a big roll of gauze in one of the pockets of this car," she said insistively. "Get them out, unobtrusively, after we get in and slip them

I nodded a comprehending assent, and she and I climbed into the tonneau with Bess Dean, Dicky taking the front seat with Robert.

I nodded a comprehending assent, and she and I climbed into the tonneau with Bess Dean, Dicky taking the front seat with Robert Seaton and Ted. The latter got up on the running board, where he assured us laughingly, he preferred to ride. Lillian saw that from his position he could not see into the tonneau, then she spoke to the men in front.

"Just keep your eyes on the road ahead, boys," she commanded. "I'm going to make Miss Dean as comfortable as possible. I don't need any spectators. Just start the car and let's be on our way."

"Right-o!" Dicky threw back his head and gave the word of command over the valley road, and Lillian had put her hand firmly on Bess Dean's, for the girl had started wildly in her seat with angry protest at the men's tones.

"Don't be a fool just because you know how," she said, crisply. "No woman, unless she's an experienced that road without killing her feet and yours must be in terrible condition. Just put them up here and let me take off those shoes."

"I tell you it isn't my foot," I mumbled. Bess Dean began.

"Of course not," she said. "Lillian spoke soothingly as she would to a child. "But we can't help that till we get home, while I can relieve your feet. Be sensible now."

"BESS DEAN," I REPROVEDLY said, "I don't want to be sensible."

She stooped and lifted one of the girl's feet from the floor of the car, propped it on a footstool which had provided for Lillian's use, untied the strings of the sneaker and attempted to pull it off. Bess Dean

"I was afraid of this," Lillian said. "That knife. Madge—open her foot, but at the pulling of the sneaker, she gave a sharp little cry. "I was afraid of this," Lillian said. "That knife, Madge—open please."

Lillian handed her the knife, and very carefully she began to slit the cloth at the side of the shoe. Bess Denn made no further protest, having impatiently reached the limit of her endurance, but she gave a slight exclamation when she saw the cause of the another when Lillian removed the second sneaker, after having been compelled to cut it also.

"Now for the stockings," Lillian said.

"Will you have to cut them, too?" Bess Denn asked, dismayed though she had made no objection to the cutting of my shoes, and I guessed that she had put on her pair of stockings of silken hose for the expedition.

"It won't make any difference," Lillian retorted practically. "They're in ribbons already, and a furtive glance of my own confirmed her statement."

Great holes came through the filmy texture of the stockings through which the swollen and chafed feet strained as if bursting. Truly, Bess Denn had paid dearly for her shoes, and I was reminded of her act as compared to mine, and I felt a sharp sting of conscience, knowing that I was partly responsible for her plight. I had yielded only too readily—if not gladly—to Dicky's remand that I give her the exact pair of sneakers for which she had asked, my own, instead of the extra, larger pair I had in my trunk.

VARIED PROGRAM TO BE BROADCAST THIS EVENING

Tribune Will Offer Mixture of Vocal and Instrumental Music by Radio.

The TRIBUNE will broadcast this evening from its radio station program of vocal and instrumental music which will be a treat to the radio fans who look to The TRIBUNE for high class entertainment via the ether waves.

The first on the program will be Edward F. Jones, whose talents as a singer caused him to be selected as one of the A. E. P. entertainers that toured France and Germany after the armistice to entertain the American army. He will sing two songs, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Dorothy Cooley.

Second will come W. A. Nottebrock of Alameda, who has built up a reputation for himself by singing for a number of clubs in the bay district. In the east, before coming to California, he sang at theaters in Philadelphia and Boston. He will sing two songs this evening. Both Nottebrock and Jones are pupils of J. P. Jones. They will sing a duet as their final contribution to the program.

The feature of the program will be H. A. Webster's Juvenile Orchestra from Portland, Ore., which will offer a number of selections ensemble. The orchestra is now playing at the Pantages theater. The members of the orchestra are members of some of Portland's best families. The children, who range in ages from 8 to 12, will return to Portland this fall in time for school. They are all pupils of Webster, who tours California every year with his congregation of juveniles. The members of the orchestra are: Louis Levitt, Juel Lensch, Kenneth Crawford, Jay Chatterton, Marie Hendrickson, La Velle Bayart, Mary Blumberg and Mary Stanley, all violinists; Isaac Friedman, viola; Lera Wadley, cello; Harold Van Avery, Roy Sheedy and Dorothy Lynch, mandolins; Eva Murphy, piano; and Clifford Bird, drums.

The program today between 3:30 and 4:30 was broadcast by Lionel Bittel Cole, who vocalized, whose singing has pleased hundreds at the T. & D. theater, and by Jack Hayden, one of the Three Senators now appearing at the T. & D. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Long Martin, pianist and pupil of Miss Elizabeth Simpson of Berkeley.

Radio by Telephone Is Newest Service

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 21.—Radio by telephone is the newest service to be offered by the Puget Sound Telephone Company of Everett, according to a supplemental tariff filed with the department of public works effective August 1. The company recently installed telephones in its Everett telephones. The company, it was said today, will install radio devices on its patrons' telephones in connection with the Seattle Radio Association and will provide a 24-hour program of music and other forms of radio entertainment at a charge, it is said, of $5 a year. The devices are said to be powerful enough to receive within a 100-mile radius of Seattle and will not interfere with regular telephone service.

A bill of sale for a Chinese slave girl will be published in Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

JAMES P. HUMPHREYS, well-known automobile man of Hebron, Md., who declares he believes Tanlac is the best thing to overcome stomach trouble and run-down condition. States it completely restored his health.

"I believe in giving everything its due and I want to say right now I just can't praise Tanlac too highly for what it has done for my case," declared James P. Humphreys, proprietor of the Hebron Motor Co., Hebron, Md.

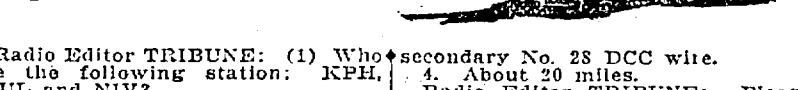

"For three years or more I suffered from indigestion. After eating I would vomit terribly with gas and my heart would palpitate until it interfered with my breathing. I was habitually constipated and my nerves were all upset. My sleep was unsteady. I got up mornings tired out, and I was only a shadow of my former self.

"Well, Tanlac has given me a keen appetite, stomach trouble has disappeared, my nerves have steadied down and I have gained several pounds. Tanlac, to my mind, is the best thing ever sold for stomach trouble and run-down condition."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Will Entertain Over Radio

A few of the members of Webber's Juvenile Orchestra from Portland which will entertain radio fans tonight from The TRIBUNE's broadcasting station. Below is W. A. NOTTEBROCK (left), who will broadcast vocal numbers, and in the center is ETHEL LONG MARTIN, pianist, who accompanied Lionel Cole on today's program. At the right is EDWARD F. JONES, who will also broadcast vocal numbers tonight from KZM.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) Who are the following stations: KPH, 6AUL and NIV?

6AUL is the formula for the natural wave length of an aerial?

3. For a two-slide tuning coil?

1. KPH is the station of the Radio Corporation located at Bonina, Calif. 6AUL is H. O. De La Montana, 2330 Eleventh avenue, Oakland. NIV is the U. S. S. O'Brien.

2. The natural wave length of an antenna is roughly four and one-half times the length of the flat top measured in meters.

3. The formula for calculating the inductance of a coil is too elaborate for practical purposes. Better get the wave length of your coil by comparison with another well known wave length.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) How far is Sunnyvale from Oakland?

2. How many new services to the TRIBUNE to get a loose couple?

3. What number wire is used on the primary and secondary?

4. What is the distance for receiving on a set consisting of a two-slide tuning coil, fixed condenser, crystal detector and 500-ohm receiver? My aerial is 50 feet long and 50 feet high on one end and 30 feet at the other.

5. Nine new three months subscription list for the best.

6. Primary No. 22 enameled, and secondary No. 28 DCC wire.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: Please print a diagram showing the way to tune the type of aerial used on battleships and for single wire antenna. I am not a member of the OTRC but want to be. I will make application.

RAY BABSON, San Leandro. The diagram is as follows:

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) I have been told that the best cat whisker to use with galena or mineral crystal, is a fine nickel wire.

2. Is a wireless detector using a crystal of zinc oxide resting on a crystal of tellurium more sensitive than any other crystal detector, or is it merely less likely to get out of adjustment?

3. Where can I secure a crystal of tellurium suitable for use in a radio telephone detector?

1023 Lakeshore ave., Oakland, Cal.

1. We have never tried this combination, but understand it is very good. However, if the galena or other mineral is good, a sharp-pointed catwhisker such as a phonograph needle soldered to a wire will work practically as good as any method you might devise.

2. This type of detector is no better than galena, providing the galena is of a sensitive variety.

3. You might try the Leo J. Meyerberg Company, 425 Market street, San Francisco company.

WOOD APPEALS FOR LEPROSIES

MANILA, P. I., July 21.—(By Associated Press).—Governor-General Wood has made public an appeal for funds for the Cullion leprosy colonies.

"Establishment of the Cullion colonies has resulted in the assembling under our flag of the largest collection of lepers anywhere in the world," General Wood's appeal states.

"If the American people could only see the great group of unfortunate at Cullion, I feel confident that money would pour in from all sides to the Philippine Anti-Leprosy Society."

MANILA, P. I., July 21.—(By Associated Press).—Governor-General Wood has made public an appeal for funds for the Cullion leprosy colonies.

"Establishment of the Cullion colonies has resulted in the assembling under our flag of the largest collection of lepers anywhere in the world," General Wood's appeal states.

"If the American people could only see the great group of unfortunate at Cullion, I feel confident that money would pour in from all sides to the Philippine Anti-Leprosy Society."

ELDER TRIO TO BROADCAST RADIO PROGRAM SAT.

Entertainers at Recitals Will Play for Listeners-in From KZM.

The Elder Trio, composed of Pauline Elder, pianist; Scott Elder, violinist; and Pauline Elder, cellist, will broadcast an artistic program from The TRIBUNE's radio station tomorrow afternoon between 3:30 and 4:30 on the time of KZM, the Atlantic-Pacific company, which arranged the program.

The members of the Elder Trio are prominent in musical circles and are frequent entertainers at the Paul Elder book store in San Francisco, as well as at numerous recitals at homes.

Their program will be as follows:

Told at Twilight (Hinder) Elder Trio; Serenade (Victor Herbert), Elder Trio; Legende (Wienlawski), Scott Elder, violin solo; Chanson sans Paroles (Tschalkowsky), Elder Trio; Minuet (Paderewski), Pauline Elder, piano solo; Songs My Elder Trio taught Me (Dvorak), Elder Trio; Gavotte (Martini), Elder Trio; Celebrated Air (Bach), Paul Elder Jr., cello solo; My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice, from "Sampson and Delilah" (Saint Saens), Elder Trio.

DEATH WINS 60- MILE RACE OVER MOUNTAIN TRAIL

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21.—J. W. Holcomb, 22, died at a hospital here yesterday as the result of injuries sustained when a blazing limb fell from a tree upon him while he was helping to fight a forest fire in the Rock Creek district. In a vain attempt to save his life his companions carried him six miles over mountain trails to reach a highway leading to Portland.

Philippine Bank President Resigns

MANILA, P. I., July 21.—(By the Associated Press).—Miguel Unson, president of the Philippine National Bank, has offered his resignation because of his heavy duties as under secretary of finance of the Philippine government. It is understood that acceptance of the resignation rests with the bank's board of directors, which consists of Governor General Leonard Wood, Sergio Osmena, speaker of the house of representatives and Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Senate of the last Philippine legislature. Charles H. Steyer, former international purchasing agent, has been appointed temporary president.

Drought Is Menace To Japan Rice Crop

TOKYO, July 21.—The rice crop of Japan has already been severely threatened, owing to a prolonged drought. While the "Nuyabai" or rainy season started well, a heavy downpour occurring on June 10, there has been little or no rain since, and in some districts the farmers are already planting buckwheat, beans and other crops in their paddy fields. This lack of water applies to virtually the whole country and Korea and in some places there is even a shortage of drinking water. Farmers have been even fighting among themselves to get a share of the scanty supply. The residents of Tokyo have been warned to preserve water.

High Material Cost Problem For Japan

TOKYO, July 21.—(By Associated Press).—Mr. Kenjiro Arai, the new minister of agriculture and commerce, to whom the people of Japan are looking to devise measures for lifting the business depression, in an interview pointed out that the government could do little unless it acted by refusing to pay the high prices now asked by the retailers in order to develop industry and foreign trade, he said, "prices of commodities must be reduced."

"If the cost production of raw materials is high, industry will not develop properly and the prices of manufactured articles will become high, which in turn will cause a depression in trade."

Town Trustees Defer Action on Petitions

HAYWARD, July 21.—The town trustees have deferred action on the petitions submitted in favor of the electric poles until their next meeting. Seventy-five per cent of the property owners on the streets where the poles will be placed and who will stand the expense of their erection, have signed the petitions. Now another set of petitions are to be put out to all the property owners for signatures so that the trustees will be certain that the people of the community are in favor of the erection of the poles.

Prohibited.

If a 110-volt electric bulb is connected across a 110-volt line it will glow at normal brilliancy and the filament will have a fairly long life. If the same bulb is connected across a 6-volt storage battery there will be no glow, which indicates that the current is too feeble to heat the filament to incandescence.

If the filament of a vacuum tube which glows brightly on 6 volts is connected across the 110-volt line it is melted instantly by the excessive current which flows. Such mistakes as these may be avoided by an understanding of one of the most elementary electrical laws known as "Ohm's Law," which may be expressed in a number of ways, all of which mean the same. The most common form is to say that the current which flows through a resistance connected to a constant source is equal to the voltage of the line divided by the resistance in ohms of the device or circuit. In other words:

If the current in amperes is represented by "I," the resistance in ohms by "R," and the voltage by "E," the law is represented by the expression "E" or "I equals E divided by R." In the example mentioned in the first paragraph if the electric bulb draws half an ampere on 110 volts the resistance may be found by substituting the known values in the expression. Two of the three quantities must always be known in order to find the unknown or third quantity.

Now, if the 220 ohm bulb is connected across the 6 volt battery the current drawn may again be found by substituting the known values which now becomes "I equals E or 6 divided by 220 or R" which gives a current flow of .027 amperes. In other words, a current of 1/36 ampere will flow when the 110 volt is connected across the bulb, thus heating it to incandescence, but a current of only .027 amperes from the 6 volt battery is too weak to heat the filament of the bulb visibly.

In the case of the vacuum tube on 6 volts, it is found that the current consumption is usually about 1 ampere (as may be determined by an ammeter reading). Substituting these two values in the above expression or Ohm's Law to find the resistance of the vacuum filament, the expression becomes "E or 6 equals E or 6 divided by R," which gives a value of 6 ohms for the filament resistance.

If the vacuum tube, the filament of which we have found to have a resistance of only 6 ohms, were connected across the 110 volt line the current drawn would be equal to 110 divided by 6 or about 18 amperes. If the filament is heated to incandescence by the normal current of 1 ampere it is obvious that a current of 18 amperes would melt the filament instantaneously.

It is apparent from the above that many expensive experiments may be avoided by an application of Ohm's Law, which will always give the desired result without unnecessarily destroying any apparatus.

There are other forms or ways of expressing the law, which are sometimes more convenient to use in a particular application of the formula. Any of the following may be used:

I equals E-R, R equals E-I, or E equals I-R.

In using the law the expression is usually used which contains the unknown quantity as the left hand member of the equation. Two of the three quantities must always be known in order to find the unknown or third quantity.

Now, if the 220 ohm bulb is connected across the 6 volt battery the current drawn may again be found by substituting the known values which now becomes "I equals E or 6 divided by 220 or R" which gives a current flow of .027 amperes. In other words, a current of 1/36 ampere will flow when the 110 volt is connected across the bulb, thus heating it to incandescence, but a current of only .027 amperes from the 6 volt battery is too weak to heat the filament of the bulb visibly.

Burglar Makes Haul in Alvarado

ALVARADO, July 21.—A masked man, entering his window awakened K. Matsumoto early Thursday morning. At the point of a revolver the intruder forced his victim to remain quietly in bed while he rifled the man's drawers before his entrance had been accomplished.

About an hour earlier on the same morning two men were seen to stop at the Alvarado Garage in an automobile and try to force the door open. They were watched by Deputy Sheriff Anderson, who waited for them to make their entrance before making an arrest. The approach of another motor car frightened the men away before their entrance had been accomplished.

FRAME-UP CHARGED.

Once more it has been made apparent that in San Francisco there can be no criminal trial upon which a wide attention is fixed without a worry accompaniment of charges of sharp practice.

In the Mooney case there were open accusations of perjury and from that day until now when Henry Wilkens is being tried for murder there have been few trials in which the issues were sharply drawn and the evidence nearly balanced that have escaped the spectacle of defense or prosecution alleging illegal practice.

The record of court room threat and accusation in the Hightower, Arhuckle and now, the Wilkens case, is one demanding action, if not by San Francisco or state authorities, by the attorneys in their organization. Unless the men who cry "bribery," "frame-up" and "perjury" are made to prove their accusations and unless punishment follows when they fail, it is the bar of San Francisco which will suffer.

The latest case in point is the allegation, made in open court by the attorney for Wilkens that testimony of the state's principal witness was "framed." It is a charge to interest, as a technical participant, every citizen of the commonwealth. If it cannot be upheld the originator should be punished. In any event action should be taken in San Francisco to rescue the criminal courts from that suspicion in which they are placed when men on one side of a case are allowed to make, almost, a matter of procedure the stereotyped allegation the other is guilty of corrupt practice.

TARIFF AND SUBSIDY.

An argument for American ship subsidy, written for an opposite purpose, comes from England and the editor of the British marine weekly, "Fairplay." Says the editor:

If I read things aright—I do not mean so much America's policy, which is doubtless tinted with idealism, but rather what the logical results of that policy must be—the conclusion forced upon me is that not only does she purpose being self-supporting in all the necessities, and a good many of the semi-luxuries, of life and having a mercantile marine worthy of her place in the world, but also of arranging that the output of her industries should enable them to be run at a reasonable profit on home demands leaving enormous surpluses for selling abroad at knock-out prices.

All of which, unless it be the reference to "knock-out prices" represents desirable attainments. If the ship subsidy and a protective tariff can do this, then should we have both.

Coming from England, the free trade nation, the argument is not without force. "Fairplay" goes on to argue for the means of "protecting" British manufacturing and, in its presentment, admits free trade is powerless to offer aid. Here is an English periodical declaring protection is the only course for England and that such a course is necessary because the United States threatens to expand its trade marvelously with a ship subsidy and a protective policy.

HASTY ESTIMATES.

Two illuminating statements concerning Americans have come from England within the last half-month. The one, from Margot Asquith, is the sort of estimate one would expect from the unimaginative and sharp-tongued woman who visited this country to capitalize at the box office a reputation she had won by placing intimacies in a book. The talk of Sir Auckland Geddes was at once one of the most sane utterances concerning the United States to come from Great Britain and a rebuke to those who, like Mrs. Asquith, formed their estimates during the few weeks they spent here on the lecture platform.

Mrs. Asquith is not even original; doubtless much of what she says is true. She has it that the American is too much engrossed in business and would scold us for an over-appreciation of money. Europe is familiar with that picture of the American and, without question, tourists from this country abroad have offended by an ostentatious display of wealth.

What Sir Auckland lamented was that few Britons ever called at Washington who knew anything about America. Many of them come to lecture, he said, but few to learn. Advice to his countrymen to stop "patronizing" America with two weeks lecture courses, and to cease expressing hastily formed opinions shows Geddes, for one, has learned to know something of this country.

Most Americans are willing to admit the charge they are more active in the pursuit of wealth than their neighbors and some have evolved a philosophy in extenuation. They are willing to admit that the Briton is not to be judged by the volunteers who come over here for lecture rewards. If the Geddes speech represents any large feeling in his country there is a fair amount of agreement on both sides of the Atlantic that we have been lectured enough by men and women who, from the very brevity of their visits, cannot have been informed.

THE SUMMER SESSION.

If the Summer Session of the University of California were a new thing it is probable the community would see its worth to city and state in a new light. Those who hold a mental picture of a campus annually populated by smart young things who delight in pert speeches, ukeleles, and a sort of play at college life, do not know the Summer Session.

What is it that has brought 5,200 young persons to Berkeley and the Eastbay this summer? Is it the opportunity to hear a young poetess that women lack grace and professors are old maids? Is it to take part in dances, plays, and pageants? Some of those young people, the largest group, have been teaching school for nine months in the year. They have come to this community to study for two more months and give a professional air to the place which adds to the significance rather than detracting from it.

Standards of teaching must be high when teachers work thus to maintain their positions. The desire for education must be widespread when thousands give their summer months to books and classrooms. The great outstanding lesson to be gained from the Summer Session is one of eager recognition of educational opportunity of serious work and worthy accomplishment.

CUTTING SHIP RATES.

A shipping condition which cries for correction and may be cited for its application to ship subsidy discussion was brought home to this port within the week. The captain of a Norwegian vessel, anchored in the bay, has announced his craft has been chartered to carry lumber from Columbia river either to Halifax or New York. The charter was given to the Norwegian company because of a rate quoted which would be impossible on any vessel living up to American requirements for pay and living conditions of crews.

When it was announced that the Norwegian ship would take the lumber to Halifax for $12 a thousand, or to New York for $12.50 a thousand some idea of the surprise occasioned may be gained from the fact that the rate is no higher than that usually asked for the haul from Columbia river to San Pedro. No American shipper could accept such a charter without ruin. It is probable the Norwegian does not figure on a profit.

Amid the ominous despatches that tell of the perplexities that beset the nation's chief executive—the railroad and coal strikes, the political governors who fail to respond with alacrity to his appeal, the somewhat supine Congress and the not wholly reassuring prospects as to the future seen in primary elections of several states—besides minor untoward matters, that which tells of a shipment of three boxes of treacherous apricots to President Harding is a restful variant. Who knows what relief it may be to turn from the harassments of an exalted position and for at least a moment be able to dismiss the cares of state in contemplation of and indulging in extra samples of golden California fruit? At least, remembering the California fruit in this way is not adding to his burdens.

Those who like to make comparisons may take account of W. K. Vanderbilt III, now in San Francisco, and who is reported to be guarded as has been the immemorial custom to safeguard the lives of heirs to thrones. The comparison may be made of this scion of a celebrated family with his cousin, who was here not so long ago, and knocked around regardless as a newspaper reporter. To be sure, the present guest is only fifteen, but that is old enough to qualify an American lad to go about on his own hook. The fact that his maternal grandfather, the late James G. Fair, rather successfully made his own way in California at a time when dangers were certainly not any less than they are now, is an interesting fact, but may not be pertinent to the comparison.

The rodeo at Salinas, to open on July 26, is attracting an attention from all parts of the state. From all indications the city and valley has prepared an open-air fiesta with more attention to color and amusement features than ever before. Salinas has made of its show an established institution and is ready for the thousands of guests it will entertain.

The day is approaching, if not here now, when intense rivalry between highway systems will be apparent. The tide of victory may be turned for the future by no greater an expedient than the planting of trees along the road.

Once again we are tripped and this time by no more than a couple of commas. At the same time it would appear we have made a saxophone speak up, express its sour sentiments and do something out of its usual line.

"The saxophone says Billy Sunday is the devil's bugle." That was the first sentence in a paragraph in the Almanac the other day and, of course, the heaters of the bushes were quick to pounce upon it.
 "Honor fairly convulsed me to-night when I learned the saxophone had broken its long silence," writes Bill, "and called our old pal Billy Sunday a bugle."

Of course the subject is one for the Nature club and Parkville. If saxophones are to call names—and a bugle to a saxophone must be the last word in insult—some sort of scientific recognition should be accorded. If on the other hand the pair of commas we had been carrying around in our vest pocket for just such an emergency, had not blown off the forms before going to press, another story would have been told.

The saxophone, says Billy Sunday, is the devil's bugle. There they are (let's hope) in all their cunning unconsciousness!

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR WIFE.

NOTES and COMMENT

This about swimmers, from the Oregonian: "Mr. Sullivan's testimony that Theodore Roosevelt never used profane language is interesting. Nor did he use to be a good swimmer. He needed no stimulant of any kind to keep his mind and body in a harem. The Sherk is the hero of all femininity and the abdomen dance a tool of his nefarious trade."

Stockton Record: "The spirit of the Northern California booster campaign hasn't reached Hollister yet. The editor of the Hollister Advance, in speaking of the San Joaquin valley sun that kisses our peaches, putting bloom on their skins and sugary sweetness underneath, says very sarcastically: 'Those who must go over into the valley to enjoy the balmy breezes that fan the thermometer up to about 130 or 140 in the sun may still go through the Panoche and get to the valley before its wonderful climate has lost any of its luster.' Come now, is that the way to talk? We thought we had solemnly agreed to discard such methods."

Brooklyn Eagle on Russian relief work: "Colonel Haskell is leaving Moscow, having fed some 9,000,000 Russians, who would have starved but for our American food, carried to them in spite of wretched and disorganized transportation, through a country two-thirds as large as the United States. They have been put in the reach of these sufferers 200,000 tons of food for adults, 120,000 tons of food for children, seed grain for the next crops and $7,000,000 worth of medical stores."

The Syracuse Herald animal-verts as to "The Star Spangled Banner": "Every little while critics rise up and declare that the national anthem, 'The Star Spangled Banner' isn't the kind of national anthem we should have. Just at present a widespread campaign for a new anthem is being conducted by Mrs. Augusta Stetson of New York. She thinks we should have an anthem more melodious and less militant. If 'The Star Spangled Banner' is too militant we confess our inability to see it. We learned

In this the Deseret News seems to refer to Adam: "The first man of whom we have any knowledge was a workingman, for he dressed and kept the garden in which he was placed so that it should not fall back again into the wild lands outside. From that time the present all high and fine things have been wrought out by the hands and the brains of workingmen."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

KNOWING THE BOY.
 There's more to a boy than his meat and drink.
 There's more to a lad than a man would think.
 You may read a book in a single day
 And know the tale when it's laid away.
 You may glance at a canvas wondrous fair
 And see the skill of the painter there.
 But you've got to stay close to the boy to know
 The sort of a man that Time will grow.

 Till he got me out for a game of ball.
 I'd heard him tell of the times he'd played,
 But I little dreamed of the strides he'd made.
 And I thrilled with pride when I came to know
 That my boy could catch and my boy could throw.
 And I watched him with wonder in my eyes,
 Gracefully taking the tallest flies.

I said to his mother when I came in,
 "Well, I've found a boy with a happy grin.
 And I've discovered a lad tonight
 Whose eyes are keen and whose heart is right.
 He has strength and courage and he can throw
 The way I could in the long ago—"
 "Who is this boy, who has caught your eye?"
 She asked. "He is yours and mine," said I.

There's more to a boy than his hats and shoes
 And the thing you buy for his hands to use.
 There's more to learn than his slightest whim.
 There's depth and breadth to the soul of him.
 He is growing up, and unless you stay
 Close at his side he will grow away.
 But in all that he does if you watch to see You'll catch some hint of the man he'll be.

MODERN GIRLS SMARTER.
 At the age of 102, Mrs. Mary Anne Thompson, of Winthrop, Mass., announces she is thinking of getting her hair bobbed. She probably has a sense of humor and is "stringing" us. Concerning flapdoodle, she comments: "The modern girl is much smarter than the young girls of my day. At heart, they are the same lassies who on Sundays primly carried a little coal stove with them to church to keep their feet warm. Each generation thinks its young people are going to the dogs, and so far each has been mistaken."—Geddes Weekly.

THOSE BERKELEY ROOSTERS.

To the Editor of The Tribune:
 The very emphatic letter of Miss Chaney in Thursday's TRIBUNE puts an entirely new phase upon the rooster controversy that has been agitating our city for some time past, and although at first I considered it a sort of joke, I am now convinced that it is a very serious matter and agree with her that something drastic ought to be done to curb or eliminate the abnormal chattering propensities of the gallinaceous bird that is upsetting the nerves and disturbing the slumbers of the citizens of the university city. If what Miss Chaney says be true the behavior of the Berkeley roosters is simply scandalous, and their depravity calls for an investigation or scientific diagnosis, conducted perhaps by some of the distinguished professors connected with our more or less celebrated seat of learning. Roosters that negotiate seventy-five well-developed crows during the course of a single night are ornithological freaks and well worth scientific research. Personally I have no objections to the rooster greeting the wakening day at the first call of incense-breathing morn, but I would kick at having him commence his jazz performance at ten o'clock p. m. and keeping it up until sunrise. It may be all right for a college student to make Rome howl all night, but a self-respecting rooster ought to know better. Our Oakland birds do not act that way, but go to sleep at dark like all other decent folks, waking a few seconds at midnight to announce "Twelve o'clock and all is well," then tucking their heads under their wings as Nature intended them to do. It may be that the cultured atmosphere of the college city has affected some of its other bipeds, and if we are to credit some of the tales that leak out from the campus, about midnight orgies, flapper dances and other college activities, it is no wonder that a poor, untutored rooster should become so rattled that he does not know day from night and unwittingly deviates from the path of strict propriety. At any rate the midnight crowing of a rooster is less objectionable than the raucous honks of automobiles being driven along the streets like mad by sportsmen with more money than brains, or the fusillade from a fleet of motorcycles burning up the pavement and running over folks. It is even less objectionable than the racket made by a gang of college hoodlums making night hideous when they ought to be in bed. Why discriminate against the poor rooster? The next thing it will be canary birds, cats yowling on the backyard fence, and poodle dogs barking at the moon.
 GEO. B. MAIR.

ROOSTERS, AGAIN!

To the Editor of The Tribune:
 If Berkeley desires to attract desirable people to make their homes there, serious consideration will have to be given, both by the city council and the voters, to the crusade started by Miss Chaney on the rooster nuisance.
 In their first move, the city council passed the buck, the pretense being of asking legal advice. Where there is a will there is a way. There is an ordinance now which specifies the number of chickens that may be kept, it also specifies that fowl (foul) houses must be distant at least 25 feet from a dwelling etc. By extending this distance to, say, 250 feet, possibly thirty thousand roosters would be put out of commission.
 Or why not institute chickenless zones? Berkeley is zoned and restricted now from Halfax to breakfast and, when it suits our City Dads, they "put over" anything they want to, regardless of seeking public approval. Getting elected is the only thing that bothers them. If we can get them to worry about re-election, good bye rooster.
 Miss Chaney having raised this question, "Will Berkeley continue to endure sleepless nights, plus chicken coops, rats, flies and ill smells that go with them?" If so, let our village roosters continue to crow all night long, thus announcing the fact that Berkeley is a jay town.

14,000 SIGN SOLDIER AID ACT PETITION

American Legion Representatives File Document Favoring Putting Farm and Home Bill on the Ballot

Alameda county today expressed itself in regard to the soldiers' farm and home aid bill by going on record with 14,000 names in favor of putting the measure up to the voters at this fall's election. A delegation from Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion, today, in behalf of the local post and the other Legion posts of Alameda county, filed the petition.

The petition, as required by law, was filed with County Clerk George E. Gross, and will be forwarded to Sacramento, where it will become a part of the huge petition filed throughout the state, which will place the soldiers' farm and home aid bill, questioned as to legality, on the ballot to be decided by the voters.

The soldiers' farm and home aid act, passed by the last session of the state legislature, was declared to be illegal because it provided for the loaning of the state's credit to individuals. The matter was brought before the State Supreme Court, where the contention was upheld. In order to put the matter up to the voters it was necessary to secure 60,000 names to an initiative petition.

LEGION GETS NAMES.

This work was undertaken by the American Legion, which sponsored the bill before the legislature, with the result that Alameda county was allotted as its share 12,000 signatures to the petition. The petition today contained 14,000 names, and is the second largest petition to be filed in the state, Los Angeles county being first. It is believed that the initiative petition will contain more than the required 60,000 names, which will assure the appearance on the ballot of the soldiers' farm and home aid act.

MONEY ONLY LOANED.

In reference to the act, A. W. Chase, commander of Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion, today said:

"We are indebted to the women's organizations principally, as well as to various other organizations for co-operation in securing the required number of signatures to the petition. Every organization we called upon did more than its share in soliciting the signatures."

"The measure to be decided at this fall's election is one of the fairest propositions ever offered by any

Woman Voter of Berkeley, Age 91, Goes to Register

BERKELEY, July 21.—Mrs. Mary E. Hardy, 1428 Greenwood Terrace, probably has the distinction of being the oldest voter on the official register in Berkeley. She is 91 years old.

Making the trip alone from her home yesterday, Mrs. Hardy presented herself at the office of Miss Emma Halin, city clerk.

"I wanted to make sure that I would vote at the primaries," she explained when asked why she did not wait at home for a deputy to call upon her. Mrs. Hardy showed keen interest in present-day political and civic questions.

state in the union to its former service men. Instead of giving them something outright, the measure proposes to loan them money, at interest, for the purpose of purchasing homes or farms. This money is paid back, with a fair interest, and in the long run the state really receives interest on the money loaned rather than actually giving anything to the men who represented the state in the greatest war the world has ever known."

INCENDIARY FIRE DESTROYS HOTEL

RICHMOND, July 21.—The Santa Fe hotel, at 100 Ohio street, was destroyed by a fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, early this morning. The loss is estimated in the neighborhood of $10,000. An investigation is being made by the police.

Under a high wind the flames from the burning three-story building leaped nearly 100 yards toward the huge gas tank of the Richmond Gas Company, which, it is declared, would have caused a nestable amount of damage had it caught fire.

Shortly after 4 o'clock today the three-story frame structure burst into flames and before the fire department arrived the fire had enveloped the upper structure and was sweeping through the two lower stories.

The fire was discovered by Dary Armstrong, son of W. E. Armstrong, living next door to the hotel at 112 Ohio street. He turned in the alarm at 3:50 o'clock this morning.

The three members of the Farinas family, including their small son, Andrew, may owe their lives to the fact that Mrs. Farinas, who has had throat trouble recently, was awakened by a severe fit of coughing by the smoke. She aroused her husband and son, and the three fled from the building.

According to Police Chief W. H. Woods, the indications are that the fire was set. This theory is given weight, he said, by the discovery of two charred cans of kerosene at the rear of the place where the fire is believed to have started.

SEVERAL AUTOS NEAR HOTEL.

Chief Woods said that the building is total loss and estimated the value of the structure roughly at $10,000. The hotel was one of the first constructed in Richmond, and Farinas has been in charge of the place for the last six months.

During his residence there he has been arrested on several occasions, according to the police, for engaging in the sale of illicit liquors. On each occasion, the police say, he has entered pleas of guilty.

When the fire department arrived there were several automobiles with passengers standing in front of the burning hotel, and Fire Chief Roy Le Moine said today that he believes these people had something to do with the starting of the fire.

Glacier-Held Insects Puzzle Prying Experts

LIVINGSTON, Mont., July 21.—Insects, buried for thousands of years in a glacier in Yellowstone Park known as Grasshopper Glacier, are not grasshoppers at all but an unclassified insect now extinct, according to William C. Alden, expert in glacial geology for the United States Government, who has just completed an extensive investigation in the Yellowstone.

Specimens of the ancient insect, found by millions in Grasshopper Glacier, will be taken to Washington, D. C., for further investigation and scientific classification.

According to Dr. Alden the insects may be plainly seen in the ice; when their bodies are removed to the air they immediately disintegrate and are turned to dust.

Chief Woods said that the building is total loss and estimated the value of the structure roughly at $10,000. The hotel was one of the first constructed in Richmond, and Farinas has been in charge of the place for the last six months.

POLICEMEN ARE QUIZZED ON ROBBERY

Alleged Familiarity of Patrolmen Frohn and Enos With Burglar Suspects Is Investigated by the Chief

Investigation into the alleged familiarity of two policemen and two alleged burglars and the circumstances surrounding the presence of the quartet in the vicinity of a place looted on July 3 was started by Chief of Police James T. Drew today.

The officers, Edward Frohn and Matthias Enos, were called into the chief's office early today and submitted to a four-hour grilling in an effort to explain away alleged suspicious activities voiced in police court yesterday during the preliminary examinations of Thomas Walsh and James Dourney.

According to Chief Drew the testimony offered was to the effect that Frohn and Enos spent the greater part of the night, during which Louis' Grill was entered and a 600-pound safe stolen, with Walsh and Dourney, who were bound over to the superior court on a charge of burglary to which, the police say, they have confessed.

Chief Drew also probed into a Railroad Guard Accidentally Shot

Harry Rockwell, a guard in the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's yards in West Oakland, was accidentally shot while on duty early this morning. While making his rounds he fell over a railroad tie and his automatic pistol discharged when he hit the ground. The bullet passed through the fleshy part of his right shoulder.

He was taken to the emergency hospital, where he was given first aid treatment. Rockwell's home is at 1046 Eighth street, San Francisco.

"Modern Mountings"

On the way a diamond is mounted depends a great deal of its beauty and brilliance, some mountings emphasizing the stone's rare luster and rich color and others having the opposite effect. The modern basket-mounting, in addition to its own distinctiveness and grace, actually enhances the jewel to the utmost.

If you are dissatisfied with diamonds you now own, believing that they are "dull" or "colorless," bring them in to us. Let us show you how modern mountings will live them up as you would like.

Jewish Residents Will Hold Picnic

Jewish residents in the Eastbay area will attend the annual picnic given by the Chevra Kadusha next Sunday at East Shore Park.

The Chevra Kadusha was organized in 1886 in Oakland and contains on its rolls the names of many of the most prominent Jewish families of the county.

The newly elected officers were installed at a meeting by Past President J. A. Rasner and are as follows: President, M. Davis; vice-president, E. Lewis; secretary, Joseph Croter; treasurer, P. Baker; and under arrest, messenger, A. B. Hersander; trustees, J. Label, I. Lazar, L. Muscovich.

The chairman of the committee for the picnic is Past President Croter, who has been secretary of the association for fifteen consecutive years. Croter has chosen for his committee of arrangements for this picnic the following: E. Lewis, P. Baker, M. Cramer, L. Lazarus, J. Label, P. Schoenfeld, M. Davis, M. Ross and L. Muscovich.

Skull Fractured In Sailor's Fray

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—John O'Brien, a sailor, 35 years old, is at the San Francisco hospital with a skull fracture and Thomas Dalton, another sailor, is under arrest, charged with assault to do great bodily harm as the result of a mysterious attack at Front and Sacramento streets early today. Frantic yells brought the police to the scene where they found O'Brien on the pavement. He pointed in the direction his assailant had fled and a search revealed Dalton. The two men are believed to have been walking together at the time of the attack. O'Brien was knocked down, his head striking the pavement. He was unconscious when he reached the Harbor hospital.

report made by Policeman Frohn that he saw an automobile of certain type drive away from the scene of the robbery. According to Drew the burglars used an entirely different type of machine and Frohn and Enos had been riding in it on that night.

What action will be taken by Drew as a result of the quizzing of the policemen was not announced following the investigation. The chief said he would compare the statements given by the policemen with the transcript of the testimony offered by witnesses in Police Judge Mortimer Smith's court yesterday and base his conclusions on this comparison.

CHIEF KNEW FACTS.

"I knew for some time that these two policemen were with the burglars on the night in question," said Chief Drew, "but did not want to start an investigation until the preliminary examination testimony had been taken thus eliminating the possibility of changed stories."

"Both policemen knew the defendants and knew that Walsh was an ex-convict. It seems to me that it would have been the obvious thing to report along with the burglary of the Grill that this ex-convict had been in the neighborhood for a long time prior to the hour at which the job is believed to have been done."

Worms Ravage Fields In Tulare Region

TURLOCK, July 21.—This district is being ravaged by army worms. There are millions of them, and the devastation attributed to them—they are really caterpillars—is being calculated by the acre. The worms attack any kind of vegetation and are particularly fond of alfalfa and the vines.

Hundreds of acres in this district are being lost to the pest which can be seen passing the highways in black masses. They appear to get into a patch, clean it up, and pass onto the next one. The agricultural authorities are unable to get out there to spray the fields of the pest. It is calculated here that many hundreds of acres have been ruined through this invasion.

Both Parties Will Endorse Man, Claim

ANGELS CAMP, July 21.—At the urgent request of many friends in the district, the local party organizations have agreed to endorse a man for the office of county clerk. The present incumbent, F. G. Stevenson of Carson Hill has announced his candidacy in the sixteenth district, including El Dorado, Alpine, and Calaveras counties. He informed his friends he would run only if the Republicans and Democrats alike gave him the nomination, and this has been promised. Stevenson is a large cattleman and some years ago served in the assembly where he made an enviable record, but returned from politics to devote himself to his farming and cattle interests.

Aged Woman Dies Near Santa Cruz

SANTA CRUZ, July 21.—Miss Adeline Aiken died at her home on the Summit road, El Dorado, California, where she had lived for more than 30 years. Before coming to this county Miss Aiken had taught in the public schools of San Francisco for upwards of 25 years. Miss Aiken was an educated and refined woman, well liked by those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

She was a sister of the late Col. W. H. Aiken. The only near relative surviving her is her brother, John P. Aiken, of Patchen. Miss Aiken was 80 years of age, a native of Vermont.

Union Services to Be Held at Church

TRACY, July 21.—The Methodist and Presbyterian churches will have joint union services in the Presbyterian church on next Sunday. Sunday school will commence at 10 a. m. with Mrs. Oscar Lea as superintendent. At the church services both morning and evening. Rev. Henry James, pastor of the Methodist church, is expected to preach. Rev. J. B. of the Presbyterian church being away on his vacation. He is not present with his family at Tahoe.

Fires Extinguished In Santa Cruz Hills

SANTA CRUZ, July 21.—Three fires were reported to Fire Warden G. V. Moody here yesterday from the new fire station on Mount Bielweiki, in the Santa Cruz mountains, which commands a view of three counties. Two of the fires were on San Vicente grand and were soon extinguished, said the report. The third was the left of Buckney, below the Santa Cruz Southern Pacific Railroad company sent in section hands, who held the flames in check.

Soldier Land Act Petitions Filed

MARTINEZ, July 21.—All petitions circulated in Contra Costa to validate the soldier land settlement act have been filed with County Clerk J. H. Wells. The petitions bear the names of 1800 persons, 800 more than the quota assigned to the county. Because of errors, however, a considerable number of names will be stricken from the petitions.

Other petitions filed with the clerk include several seeking a place on the ballot for an anti-slavery measure and educational laws.

Five Billions in Electric Railways

CHICAGO, Ill., July 21.—Electric railways of the United States and Canada represent an investment of about $5,000,000,000 and the American Electric Railway Association comprises nearly 600 railway and manufacturing companies, according to executives of the association, which will hold its forty-first annual convention here, simultaneously with the conventions of its subsidiary organizations, the Engineering, Transportation, Manufacturers, Accountants and Claims Associations, October 2-6. This will be the first Chicago convention of the association since 1912, when exhibits were displayed at the Union Stock Yards. Large city and interurban passenger cars, motor buses and machinery of various sorts will be exhibited on the municipal pier. The entire south side of the pier, upper level, will be used. Much of this space has already been engaged by exhibitors.

FEDERAL MARKET -- 16TH AND BROADWAY

HOUSEWIVES Free Market

FROM PRODUCER TO CONSUMER AT WASHINGTON AND CLAY STREET AT Wednesdays and Saturdays only

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The celebrated watermelon growers of Turlock—world famous as producers of the most luscious watermelons ever grown—have accepted the invitation of this free market—the original and, in fact, the only Free Market in Oakland today—to bring their melons to this market and sell direct to the public.

NOW the watermelon grower benefits, as he has absolutely no rent to pay, and naturally will sell cheaper to the public—and in selling cheaper is in a position to dispose of his entire crop very easily.

NOW our patrons will benefit greatly, as they will have a real opportunity to actually purchase directly from the grower, thus eliminating the middleman's profit (which is surprisingly large), thereby making a large saving for our thousands of patrons. Today (Friday) Farmers Garcia, Clougher, Schwalb, Berry and Graham will drive in from Turlock with their trucks loaded to the brim with red ripe, juicy melons. They will arrive tomorrow morning (Saturday) at five o'clock. These farmers, with their families, will sell to you right off their trucks, backed up to the sidewalks of this market. They have no rent to pay—they have no employees to pay—they guarantee every melon. They will cheerfully plug every melon, and you do not purchase only the one that you select. This is a real pleasure, besides, you do actually save money, and at the same time purchase "THE FINEST WATERMELONS MONEY CAN BUY."

Civil War Women to Entertain Veterans

Members of patriotic societies and veterans will be entertained by the Women and Girl Workers of the Civil War at a picnic to be held in Mosswood park on next Thursday, according to announcement made today. A basket lunch will be served at noon.

The organization recently dedicated a flagpole and a bust of Abraham Lincoln to the city for installation in Memorial Park, Twelfth and Fallon streets. The women and girl workers comprise feminine veterans of the Civil War. They organized in 1918.

CASTOR'S ORDEAL ENDED BY COURT CURB ON QUIZZING

Grilling of Wilkens Murder Witness Is Interrupted; "Shadows" to Testify.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—After yesterday's full attempt of more than five hours by Frank J. Murphy, attorney for the defense, to discredit the testimony of Arthur Castor, star witness for the prosecution, the preliminary examination of Henry Wilkens on a charge of complicity in his wife's murder resumed today in Police Court.

When Murphy, by his grilling cross-examination failed to batter down Castor's story, the witness was unexpectedly removed from the stand by Police Judge Sylvain Lazarus, who declared that the questioning "did not get anywhere." As he left the witness stand, Castor's story, weakened in a few instances by lack of memory and some contradictions, remained practically unshaken in the main points, which implicate Wilkens as an accomplice of the witness and his brother, Walter Castor, in the alleged pre-arranged hol-up and murder of Mrs. Anna Wilkens on the night of May 30.

Judge Lazarus relieved Castor from further grilling when, according to his ruling, Attorney Murphy kept taking the witness over the same line of questioning time after time. The action was taken over the heated protest of Wilkens' lawyer and after he said:

"I do not intend to have this examination curtailed by any threat."

"It is not a threat—it is a certainty," the court shot back through grimly pursed lips, "and you are wasting some of the ten minutes left you by trying uselessly to argue with me."

Castor left the stand as fresh and with the same initial appearance. Murphy showed more signs of the pitiless examination than did the witness.

Following the taking of Castor from the witness stand it was announced by the prosecution that other witnesses, expected to confirm his confession of complicity in the holdup and murder, would be called today before the preliminary hearing is concluded.

Coincidentally it was learned from the district attorney's office that the prosecution expected to produce today two investigators from that office who on the night of July 2 "shadowed" Wilkens and saw him keep a rendezvous with Robert Castor, another brother of Walter Castor, at Pacific and Broadway streets. The alleged meeting, expected to be testified to by other witnesses, is claimed to be a part of an agreement whereby Wilkens is assisting Walter and Arthur Castor to flee from San Francisco after the killing of an automobile which Robert Castor turned over to them.

STARLIGHT

by John McGlone Gibson

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first family in Virginia, stands against the puritanical rule of her grandfather and, lured by filmland, runs away to become a motion picture actress. Virginia found her self given a very important place in a picture by Theodore Stratton, a film star. Kitty Dalton, a friend, wanted Virginia against falling in love with Stratton. Maud Sanson, Stratton's leading lady, quarrels with him about Virginia. Stratton tells of her meeting John Thorndyke. Craved by drink, he claimed she tried to kill him. She died. He accidentally finds her in Hollywood. Kitty fears Thorndyke will kill her. She confides in the Rev. John Storm, whom she loves. Thorndyke, a drug addict, comes upon them. He draws a revolver to kill John Storm. Kitty, seeing Thorndyke, pushes Storm aside. The bullet pierces her. She dies after a touching love scene with the Rev. John Storm. Then and Virginia are madly in love. Virginia learns that Ralph Winston, her father, is alive. Thorndyke advances her. Virginia goes to meet him.

Virginia is very happy over the expected arrival of her father and does some superb acting that wins the applause of the director. She changes her hotel room to the one adjoining Mrs. Chester. Virginia receives a wire from her aunt, announcing her return to San Francisco. She also learns Eddie Montforth, her childhood lover, is in town with a football team. Mrs. Chester, Virginia goes to meet Eddie.

Virginia met Eddie and, with Mrs. Chester, they have dinner. They enjoy a wonderful visit. Theodore Stratton discovered them at dinner. Eddie Montforth, showing plainly his anger at the situation, interrupted the visit with Eddie. Eddie was interrupted by the football captain, who ordered him to bed. Virginia understood.

Virginia and Mrs. Chester enjoy themselves at a dinner given by Eddie's college. Saturday, they read of a train wreck. Virginia fears for her aunt. Stratton requires Virginia to wait the afternoon of the football game. She is furious. He loves her more for it. He asks her to marry him. She reminds him of his wife and suggests a divorce. Virginia spurs Stratton.

VIRGINIA'S AUNT ARRIVES.
When I got back to the St. Francis, I found Eddie Montforth in the lobby, looking very mysterious.

"Who won?" I demanded, eagerly awaiting news of the football game.

"They trimmed us, Virginia, but I have some personal consolation anyway. You know the critics often say of a play that it was a failure, but that some actor had great personal success in it. Well, that's me. In the second half I scored our only touchdown all by my lonely. But never mind that now. I've got something to show you. Mrs. Chester asked me to bring you right up to her room."

"Oh, Eddie! I thought you were going to let me help you spend the money you got for your magazine story."

"Well, if you don't like what I have got up in Mrs. Chester's room, we will take it back and you may help me select something else."

All unsuspecting I went up to Mrs. Chester's room. They had heard me coming, for as I reached the door it was opened.

After one look at the person standing in the doorway I threw myself on Aunt Virginia's breast. Oh, how rapturously glad I was to see her.

With her loving arms about me I just sobbed out my whole homesickness and loneliness.

"Oh, Aunt Virginia, I never knew how much I have missed you until now. If I had known how lonely I was going to be without you I do not believe that I ever would have come out here. You will stay with me always now, won't you? I never want you out of my sight again."

"Oh, you darling child! And, someone when you did not write I thought perhaps that you did not care about me any more. I hesitated about coming to you for I knew it would break my heart if I knew you were not glad to see me."

"Please, please, Aunt Virginia, never think that. I have had many a queer, little sick feeling down in the pit of my stomach when I thought of you so far away. Why, when Gloria married and went away, and Kitty died, I just thought I never would be able to stay here without you."

"Lots and lots of times I would have jumped on the train and rushed back to you. If I had not been so determined that grand-

TURK PRISONERS URGED TO WRITE POETRY IN JAIL

ANGORA, Asia Minor, July 21.—

The capital of the Turkish nationalist government, Angora, also the headquarters of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader, is ambitious to become a modern city and has embarked upon a program of extensive improvements.

The present park is to be enlarged and made into a public garden; a boulevard will be constructed from Parliament House past the prefecture and the Bolshevik embassy, and roads are to be repaired and kept spotlessly clean. A large fountain typifying nationalist Turkey will be erected in the square facing the parliament building. An interesting novelty is that all shop signs are to be of the same size. In the Angora prison there are now 105 criminals. Notebooks and slates have been distributed among them so that they may learn to write national poetry. The government is taking measures to establish tailoring, bootmaking and other workshops for the prisoners in the 400 goals of Anatolia.

father should have been made to understand that I could get along without him.

"Every time I was introduced to a woman older than myself, yes, even when I was introduced to Mrs. Chester, I wanted you. And every time I had a hard knock I wanted you—you can never know how I wanted you."

"After all, it is to our own blood relations we turn in times of trouble, isn't it, dearest Aunt Virginia?"

"Isn't she just lovely, Mrs. Chester?" I asked my good friend.

"Eddie Montforth, you were just horrid to make me think that it was something else that you had up here for me."

"What have you been doing to yourself, child? You have grown up," smiled Aunt Virginia, approvingly, as soon as she could interrupt my almost incoherent speech.

"No, I haven't grown up. I haven't grown an inch since I came out here."

"But you look so different, child. Oh, it's your hair. I have never seen you with it up."

"I am just wearing my old braids wound round my head, Aunt Virginia. Although my height hasn't increased an inch I think my character has. Echoed to you once a real moving picture actress, Aunt Virginia," I laughed, "and you have gotten here just in time to see me do one of the stunts you have seen on the screen."

"Tomorrow I am going to be blown up in a yacht and rescued from the water by the hero, who is no other than the great Theodore Stratton."

"Virgie, what are you talking about," interrupted Eddie. "You don't even now how to swim."

"Indeed I do, Mr. Montforth. I have been taking swimming lessons ever since I knew I was going to have this part." The swimming teacher says I am "one of the best he has ever turned out in such a short time."

"But surely the thing will not be really done."

"If you mean by 'really' that the boat will be blown up while I am on it, no. But a real boat is going to be blown up and sunk off the coast. But before this I am going to be thrown out into the water so that the camera will get something more realistic than a picture of a young woman making a dive."

"You must not do it, Virgie. You can never do it."

"That is right, Mr. Montforth. Persuade her not to do it," urged Mrs. Chester. "I have been trying to talk her out of this for a long time. There is no reason why she should not have a 'double'—a professional swimmer."

"Nonsense! Of course I can do it," I insisted. "Aunt Virginia, you and Eddie and Mrs. Chester can come down and be on the yacht when I am thrown overboard. There will be one camera on the yacht and one on a raft below. In this way they hope to get something that is particularly realistic."

"Virginia, you can count on one thing—I'll be there," I said in a determined voice. It did clear the matter worried him.

Texas Women Seek Seats in Legislature

DALLAS, Tex., July 21.—Seven women are seeking nomination to the house of the Texas state legislature, at the Democratic primary Saturday. They are: Katie Daffan, Houston; Mrs. Sidney H. Huston, Houston; Mrs. C. F. Fain, Livingston; Mrs. J. A. McConnell, Crockett; Frankie de Walker, Alto; Edith Williams, Dallas; and Julia Sue Gott, Rosebud.

A large number of former members of the legislature are candidates to succeed themselves but, as the state has been restricted, they are not incumbents in the sense that they are seeking nomination from the districts that they formerly represented.

Abundant red-blooded health!

Robust, rugged-built women and men get everything out of life! They started their health-growth in childhood because they were given food that nourished; that built bone and muscle and brain!

Children brought up on a diet of denatured foods that flood the American table, must become puny and stunted individuals! Food robbed of its life-sustaining elements cannot produce health and strong bodies!

Every child in America should eat Kellogg's whole-wheat Krumbles at least once daily. Krumbles put into the body ALL the vital elements subtracted from the daily foods we eat! Krumbles are life-sustaining, body-building, health-assuring! And Krumbles are delicious—because they are whole-wheat, flavored, for the first time in history!

Your entire family—children, the workers, and the aged, will thrive wonderfully on Krumbles!

The only whole-wheat food with a delicious flavor!

Under strike conditions best explained by Chairman Ben W. Hooper, of the Southern Railway Labor Board, in his statement of July 1, reading as follows: "In this case, the conflict is not between the employer and the oppressed employees. The people of the country, through an act of Congress, signed by President Wilson, established a tribunal to settle such disputes over wages and working conditions, which are submitted to it in a proper manner. It is the decision of this tribunal against which the shop crafts are striking."

Regardless of any question of the right of the men to strike, the men who take the strike are merely accepting the wages and working conditions prescribed by a Government tribunal, and are performing a public service. They are not accepting the wages and working conditions which an employer is trying to impose. For this reason, public sentiment and the support of the community will protect the men who remain in their positions and now men who have been dismissed. Adequate provisions have been made for the full protection of new men who remain as old employees who remained loyally at work. Applicants should apply to the Southern Railway Employment Bureau, 705 Market St., San Francisco, or to the following of the Southern Railway Labor Board: San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton, Dunsmuir, Berkeley, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Jose, Sacramento, Sparks, Nev., and Roseburg, Ore.; Superintendent of Motive Power, Sacramento and Los Angeles.

FIRE CHIEFS TO RECEIVE WARM WELCOME HEREDelegates to Association Convention to Visit Oakland August 17.To officially notify citizens of Oakland of the four day convention of the International Fire Chiefs' Association, which will open in San Francisco August 15, members of the city fire department and a bevy of chorus girls from the Century theater will parade the streets next Thursday.The parade, which will be headed by the firemen's band, will precede a benefit show which will be staged by the management of the Century theater that day to assist in securing funds to entertain the delegates when they arrive in Oakland on August 17, for the Oakland day of the convention.Thousands of executives of fire departments, including some of the most famous fire fighters in the world, will arrive in San Francisco to attend the convention, where modern means of fire fighting will be discussed, and will come to Oakland on the third day of the convention, to pay their respects to the Eastbay.The visitors will be accorded a big reception as the guests of Sam Short, chief of the local department, and will be taken on an automobile tour throughout the city, and otherwise entertained.It has been estimated that the entertainment of the visitors will cost approximately $3000, and the show will be presented at the Century theater next week in an effort to raise a portion of the necessary expenses.A Suggestion--
For a Motor TripEnjoy an outing in your car Saturday or Sunday. The drive out Foothill Boulevard road by way of Alvarado Road to San Jose affords a motor trip not soon forgotten--and the delicious luncheon and dinner which the Hotel Ven-dome at San Jose serves is well

Helping the "Poor" Firemen

Everybody will want to be a fireman when they see this picture. Fire Chief Sam Short and two Century Theater chorus girls, who are helping to secure funds to entertain the visiting international fire chiefs. The girl on the left is BERNARDINE STEAD, and the one on the right is "LUCKY" POLLOCK.

Two Managers for Conserving CompanyHAYWARD, July 21.—W. T.
Hale and C. F. Roberts, two promi-nent Hayward men, have been chosen to take the position as managers of the local branch of the California Conserving Company.
The place was left vacant by the resignation of Mayor E. A. Hef-SERRA PAGEANT EFFECTS READYCARMEL, July 21.—Magnificent natural outdoor scenic effects, added by specially arranged lighting and music, will help to make the outdoor presentation tonight of the pageant drama commemorating the achievements of Father Junipero Serra, founder of California's missions, unique among pageants.
It was announced here today following tests made at the final dress rehearsal held last night.The pageant drama, which bears the title of "Serra," will be produced only at night, on the evenings of today, Saturday and Sunday. The "stage" will be the natural woods and field near the town of Carmel, with a bare minimum of painted canvas scenery.
Many state notables, it is announced, will be present at the presentation of the drama.
Garnet Holme, author and stage director, has spent much time in historical research, and the characters and incidents portrayed are said to be as nearly as possible historically correct.ELEVENTH HOUR APPEAL MADE TO SAVE SEQUOIASLovers of Out-of-Doors Are Urged to Spend Night in Grove of Redwoods.An eleventh hour appeal was issued today by the "Save the Se-quoias" campaign committee from its headquarters, 1451 Franklin street. Lovers of the out-of-doors are urged to get out their blankets, put supplies for two or three meals in their haversacks and "hit the trail" tomorrow afternoon or early in the evening for Oakland's grove of redwoods on and around Redwood Peak."Spend the night in the redwoods," the committee urges, "then vote to save them on August 29 when the Memorial Park bond issue appears on the ballot."
It is suggested that hikers take the Park boulevard car and go to the end of the line, where guides from the Contra Costa Hills Club will escort them to the campsite.
Autos may reach the camp via the Jonquin Miller road. Signs will be posted along the road for their guidance.The Dimond Improvement Club will have 20 members on Redwood Peak tomorrow night. It is announced. Other improvement clubs are falling in line and their members will spend the night in the redwoods. The public is invited.B. W. Hoover is chairman of the "S. O. S." button committee. The proceeds from the sale of buttons is used to finance the bond issue campaign.Hospital Hike Route
Selected for EventHAYWARD, July 21.—Mrs.
Mable T. Johnson, director of the Hospital Bureau of San Francisco, and Secretary of Chamber of Commerce N. A. W. Lee, were driven over the route to be taken by the hospital hike Sunday, August 13. R. B. Hatch, of the Stalder Motor company, showed them the route.The route as it will be traveled starts at the San Francisco ferry at 9 a. m. to Hayward by street car through Melrose. The party will visit the grounds for the Eden Township Farm Products show and then to the auto camp grounds of Hayward for lunch. After lunch the hikers will climb to the top of the hill back of Hayward where a wonderful view of the valley and bay can be seen. King's pigeon loft and Day's poultry ranch will next be visited and then the party will take the Lake Chabot road back to the ferry. About 200 persons are expected to make up the party.The One-Price Store
